

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

REPORT.

GENTLEMEN OF THE

BOARD OF PUBLIC EDUCATION :

In presenting my Fifth Annual Report, I can congratulate you upon the prosperity which this Department has enjoyed during the past year. The attendance of pupils has been very large, a number of commodious and handsome schools have been opened, the teachers have applied themselves assiduously to the discharge of their important duties, the members of the Sectional Boards have given more than ordinary attention to the progress of instruction in their several districts, the officers of this body have executed their trusts with fidelity, and from these facts we may rightly infer that there has been an advancement "all along the line."

The system of popular instruction now under our charge has made gigantic strides since it was,—with much labor and anxiety, but with no doubt of the benefits which must accrue from it,—established in 1818. The early history of this Department, should it ever be properly written, as I trust at no distant day it will, must exhibit upon every page an eulogium on the worth and noble endeavors of a number of far-sighted citizens, who, combatting a formidable opposition, struggling against the vicissitudes of fortune, and laboring conscientiously to divest the grand scheme of impracticable features,—succeeded at length in engrafting it into the very essence of our municipal government. The seed of popular education thus planted, quickly bore a glorious harvest; the vine grew steadily and rapidly under careful nurture until we behold it in its magnificent proportions of to-day. The scheme was pursued for sixteen years, undergoing amendment and alteration, but always tending toward improvement, when the Legislature, considering its beneficent results and seeing in it the element most conducive to the highest interests of the Commonwealth, enacted in 1834 a general law establishing free schools throughout the entire State.

Since that time the most enlightened minds have assisted the Department by their foresight and judgment. Men now gone, whose reputations must survive so long as letters and the deeds of philanthropy are remembered; others still eminent in the list of scientists, jurists, and educators, have guided and watched over the gradually unfolding plan, and have made it the crowning glory of our City and our Commonwealth. The benefits designed originally for Philadelphia,—but like a leaven which could not be confined,—have been and are still disseminated throughout a vast extent of territory.

The people of this city have at all times taken a lively interest in the progress of popular instruction in their midst. This is as it should be, for learning should by them be regarded as the grandest heritage of their children. As good citizens, impelled towards the perfection of their social relations, with a just estimate of the needs of those who are to fill their place and reflect honor upon their name, it is their duty heartily to second the efforts of this Board. Their means should be given freely to develop a department which, more than any other, concerns the public weal, in laying the foundation of the highest type of national honor and strength in a good citizenship. In view of this fact, it is a false economy which dwarfs the means applicable to the furtherance of this grand object. We must extend to the youth of our city an easy opportunity for seizing that most priceless of all gifts—knowledge. Every day which passes by them unimproved,—because in many instances there are wanting facilities, or inclination, or well directed parental control,—is a day lost, perhaps never to be repaired.

This Board should not be subject to criticism, when its sphere of usefulness is necessarily limited by inadequate appropriations, for not granting to every child within the limits of the city the fairest opportunity for enlightenment.

I can say, with perfect sincerity, that the administration of the finances placed at the disposal of this Board, has been wise and efficient. They have not been large enough to meet the constantly growing wants of the department, that should keep pace not alone with the material growth of our city, but with the advancement of the science of teaching, which, through the experience and thoughtful investigations of educators, is making daily progress. When it is remembered that the increase of dwellings alone in Philadelphia is at the rate of nearly five thousand per annum, it must be admitted that there is no pro-rata increase in the number of schools. There is not, I venture to say, a member of this Board, or of the Sectional Boards, who does not know that there are, with especial reference to the primary schools, hundreds of children who are knocking for admission. This is the testimony of the teachers, and the list of applicants is large, and constantly mounting up. In some cases children have been waiting for more than a year,—a great deal of precious time lost in which they form evil habits difficult to eradicate. If we gloss over this fact with the careless remark, "It is only a child who waits," we are guilty of a grave injustice. There should be accommodations to satisfy all, and teachers,—earnest, intelligent, and well paid,—to instruct them mentally and morally. It is a false economy, I repeat, which hampers a department that, above all others, should have the widest possible scope, and the most unlimited as well as the most generous support.

It is suggested to my mind,—and I know the same thought has occurred to each of you,—that the moneys for school purposes derived from the annual apportionment of taxation should flow into a distinct fund, to be drawn from at the discretion and judgment of this Board; and in saying this, I would not, by the slightest inference, reflect in the smallest degree upon the action of Select and Common Councils of this City, which are by law invested with the sole power of granting appropriations. It is impossible for them to have as fine a conception of the peculiar needs of this department as ourselves. They do not at all times estimate correctly the importance of the new methods we are compelled to devise if we would have a proper advancement in studies. They doubt the expediency of appropriations to carry them out, and leave us with our hands tied. The result very often is, that popular instruction, if not retarded, does not advance as it should in a city which has the name, more than any other, of doing the fullest justice to its youth. It seems to me that we should, as the Board of Public Education, be invested by legislative authority, with the sole responsibility of administering the fund set apart out of the receipts from general taxation for the purpose of promoting the cause of common school instruction, or accruing from a special tax levied for that purpose. If the people have sufficient confidence in our ability to entrust us with the education of their children,—a trust which exceeds all others in the importance of its results,—they have a like confidence in our integrity to properly and honestly, with untrammelled hands, use the means provided for that object. Believing this to be a matter which seriously affects this department, I commend to your careful consideration the propriety of securing such legislative action as may give us a more complete control over it, in order that it may obtain the greatest usefulness.

There is another reason why, at this particular time, this Board should receive a generous support. We are approaching one of the grandest epochs of our history, the one hundredth anniversary of our existence as a nation. Among the many conspicuous objects we are to exhibit to the eyes of the entire world, above the products of human industry, will be our system for the enlightenment of the masses. Our facilities for its accomplishment have long been our boast and the envy of other and less favored lands. Here education is not the privilege of the few, but the right of all. The wonderful progress which we, in the space of one short century, have made in science and all the industrial arts, and which will be exemplified at that international display, will be traceable to one primal cause—the impulse of education. Our schools, which have long been regarded as models in their way, will be critically noticed by foreigners and by our own people coming from other states, with reference to their facilities for the pursuit of studies, their architecture, and their courses in the various branches of learning. It behooves us, therefore, to “set our house in order,” that when this event does occur, we may not fall short, in any degree, of the high opinions which others have formed of us in this respect. It will be one of the crowning glories of that Centennial Celebration if we can but demonstrate that Philadelphia, so long eminent for her scientific colleges, has a common school system which approaches more nearly than any other, the ideal standard of perfection.

There are three inquiries which should be uppermost in our thoughts as members of this Board. What should the schools accomplish? What is accomplished? How can more be accomplished? All should understand that the proper education of our youth is a tremendous task, not to be well executed without a complete union of all the forces that can be summoned to our aid. These forces lie mainly with the people themselves. They must not only be liberal with their means, but must secure our labors in the school by their influence in the home circle. I fear that, in many instances, what the child acquires during the day in school, is lost at night through the want of interest upon the part of the parent. We who have the election of teachers, should choose those who are capable, faithful, and instinct with the spirit of the true educator, who can shed the best influence upon the minds unfolding under their care, who will not regard the work as a drudgery to be hurriedly entered upon and quickly got rid of. We cannot obtain such teachers by proffering inadequate compensation, save where misfortune may render its acceptance a necessity, and then we do not obtain that heart-work which one would give who felt that his labor was honorable, and honestly paid. We should adopt a business view of this matter, that we cannot obtain bargains in intellect by a scale of small prices. I must, in this connection, however, add my testimony in favor of the dignity and culture of the teachers employed in our public schools. As a body, they are competent, able to cope with their varied responsibilities, and labor industriously for the good of those under their charge. It is a matter for great congratulation that we have been able to secure, in all our variously graded schools, a large corps of ladies and gentlemen who are so distinguished for their mental and moral qualities.

The watchful care of the Sectional Boards is another of the necessities in the task of successfully educating the young. It is through these organizations that the people are brought into closest contact with the system of government adopted for the schools by this Board, and they are thus enabled more easily than elsewhere to detect its errors, discover its excellences, and to suggest amendments. The post of sectional controller is one of great dignity and responsibility, and I am glad to say has been and is yet sought and filled by many of our most public spirited citizens. Finally, the proper exercise of the functions of this body is one of the most important of the forces which should be bent towards perfecting our Common School Department. It is for us to revise text books and grade studies,—a labor which necessarily involves the weightiest consideration. It is for us to present the entire scope of the grand scheme for popular instruction, to specify all its details, and to add, as time proceeds, such improvements as genius and experience are constantly producing. There are some of our duties,—such as the revision of text books,—which often prove monotonous, but it should be remembered that no monotony of work ever carried with it a graver responsibility. Every change should be an advance, and the possibilities of failure should be narrowed down and carefully guarded against. To you, gentlemen, this duty is confided,—a duty of which you have thus far well acquitted yourselves. I have every reason to believe that in the present year you will exercise the same prudence, wisdom and application in its execution, as in the past.

Before proceeding to other matters, I present a concise summary of the statistics of this Department for 1874.

The First School District embraces the following schools under the supervision of the Board of Public Education, namely :

The Central High School,	The Girls' Normal School,

The report from the Central High School for the year is gratifying. The work of the institution progresses harmoniously. The enlarged and thoughtfully graded course, equally comprehensive with that adopted in many of our highest colleges, has fairly realized the expectations of the faculty. There is one sad event in the past year's history of the school; this was the death of Louis Angelé, Professor of the German Language. He was a gentleman of the highest qualities, talented and faithful. His amiability won the warm regard of all the pupils, who will now treasure his name in memory of kind words, and willing and successful instruction. The Central High School has more than ordinary claims upon our consideration when we regard it as the head of the system which extends throughout the city. I desire to quote in this connection the words of Professor Riché, who has, with his brother teachers, labored so energetically to place this institution upon the highest, as well as the most practical, scholastic footing :

"It is the source," he says, "of the higher education, which, rather from the quality than the number of its recipients, is of the greatest importance to the future. Those who demand and justify the instruction, which a school of this grade alone can furnish, constitute an element in the population whose nurture and development cannot be cared for with too great solicitude. Not only for their own sake, but because of their inevitable influence hereafter upon the masses of the community, should their minds be developed and their characters trained by every instrumentality which the wealth and refinement of the city enable it to command. It is always a minority who lead the thought and instigate the movements of society, and it is well for that people, who, by the unsparing provision of the higher educational facilities, shall have developed in that minority the wisdom to appreciate, and the virtue to promote, the highest and best interests of the state. It was Agassiz who said 'every dollar given for higher education, in whatever special department of knowledge, is likely to have a greater influence upon the future character of our nation than even the thousands and hundreds of thousands and millions which have already been spent, and are daily spending, to raise the many to material ease and comfort.' "

This school is in the possession of a remarkably fine array of scientific apparatus, but to enjoy a steady advancement in the study of natural philosophy, chemistry, and other physical sciences, additions to these important mechanical auxiliaries are constantly required, and ample provision should be made for them. There is one subject in connection with this higher education, to which I desire to draw your attention. It is manifest to every one that the accommodations of this school are entirely inadequate to meet the demands upon it. There are more scholars from the grammar schools ambitious to enter the High School (to enter which all should be entitled), than it can possibly hold. Either then the building should be greatly enlarged, or other schools, similarly graded, with, if I may use the phrase, "co-ordinate jurisdiction" in the boundless field of study, should be established. This, it seems to me, is a matter which should claim your immediate attention, and I hope your favor. The faculty is composed of skilled educators, thoroughly conversant with and zealous in the execution of their responsible duties, and the institution enjoys, consequently, an unusually high degree of success.

The Girls' Normal School returns as excellent a report as ever, and continues, as the State Superintendent of Public Instruction has aptly said, "to win words of praise from every visitor." To my mind the dual nature of this institution interferes with its highest success either as a High or Normal School. I have always entertained the opinion, which I believe to be well grounded, that there should be a Girls' High School, with as elevated and comprehensive a grade of study as is possessed by the Boys' High School, associating with it, but distinct, nevertheless, a normal department, where methods of instruction shall serve as models for imitation. But whether this much is effected or not, we should spare no efforts to elevate the standard of qualification to teach in our schools. We should obtain the best educational talent, and, if possible, by a more thorough course in the Normal School, develop it. The latter has a distinct field of labor from that of the High School, for its sole aim is, or should be, to instruct the prospective tutor "what to teach," and "how to teach," while the High School should simply, with no other object to divert its attention, secure to the pupil an ample education for himself. The division of the Normal School, such as our own, into a simple High School, and a training school for teachers, has been tried with great profit in other places. Justice to the daughters of our citizens demands that they should be placed on a perfectly equal footing with their sons. I commend this subject to your attention, believing that the amendment thus suggested will materially increase the efficiency of the department we administer, secure a higher standard of education to the pupils who do not aspire to become instructors, and enlarge the usefulness of the normal branch. I will say, in commendation of the labors of the faculty of this institution, that the various examinations of pupils attest the efficiency and thoroughness of the course of instruction, and offer satisfactory evidence that the ladies who are qualified to teach possessed comprehensive views of the importance and requirements of the work of instructing the uneducated. The usefulness of this school has been sadly abridged lately by the want of greater facilities. The new building destined for it is now under contract, and I trust ere another year rolls its round it will be ready for occupancy, and add a conspicuous monument to our city. With the increased accommodations we may anticipate a corresponding increase in the beneficent results of this institution. I trust that then there may be established a large and fully equipped school of practice, wherein the power to discipline,—without which the labors of the teacher are fruitless,—may be fully acquired.

The Night Schools continue to increase in popularity. No wiser step was ever taken by this Board than when it established them, because they afford to thousands, who neglected the opportunities of early life, or were devoid of them, the means of culture. The attendance has been large, and the reports relative to decorum and studiousness are gratifying, showing that the beneficiaries of these evening classes properly estimate the facilities now given for correcting the error or misfortune of their youth. The Night School for Artisans, supervised by the Professors of the Central High School, affords one of the brightest examples of the appreciation of the aim of this Board. The artisan holds one of the most important, if not the most important, position in the community. He is the source of wealth, and the support of local government. When it is considered what a powerful influence for good or evil he must necessarily exert, the importance of granting him the amplest opportunities for mental elevation will be apparent to every one. The school for his instruction,—filled nightly with the representatives of all phases of mechanical labor,—is overcrowded, and others should be opened, and means should be granted for that purpose.

During the year we have added to the department a number of new school buildings, which will compare favorably, with one or two exceptions, with those previously erected. The plans adopted in their construction have all been prepared by our Superintendent of School Buildings and Repairs, Mr. Lewis H. Esler, a gentleman fully conversant with the grave duties he has assumed. He has paid the utmost attention to detail, has carefully studied these essentials—heating, lighting, ventilation, and adaptation for particular work—without which such an edifice is unfit for use. The Board has no officer who has been more pains-taking or more conscientious in the discharge of his trust, and he deserves our united thanks. It is time, however, that this body should take some step to protect itself from unjust criticism in regard to defective buildings. It has during the past year, in several instances, been the victim of unfaithful contractors, bearing the odium which should fall upon them. The law has given us no discretion in the award of contracts, and we have frequently been obliged to execute an agreement with a builder who had failed to conform to former contracts. The Act of Assembly made this imperative, the language being "to the lowest bidder." We have more than once discovered to our cost that the lowest offer has not been by any means the best. Recently the Committee on Property has taken the responsibility of awarding to those parties whose prior work had given complete satisfaction, and this, while against the letter, was, I believe, according to the spirit of the law. In order, however, that we may not be charged with an arrogant assumption of power not invested in us, we should at once apply to that authority which can clothe us with the right of rejecting the lowest bid if we have reason to apprehend that it is not the best. Justice to the people of this city, who demand an honorable return for their money, justice to the children, who are often compelled to pass the day in buildings devoid of ventilation and warmth by reason of cheap and faulty construction, and justice to ourselves, and to our architect, who, even if he were argus-eyed, could not stop the fraudulent execution of contracts, alike demand that this great evil should at once be remedied.

The system of music adopted by this Board has been pursued during the past year with excellent results. Professor Perrot has applied himself assiduously to the task of thoroughly implanting a knowledge of this art in the minds of the pupils, and his efforts have been ably seconded by his assistants. After encountering a formidable opposition, which, I regret to say, has not yet ceased, this study was incorporated into our common school course, being suitably graded for the various departments, and I think I speak the unanimous opinion of teachers and pupils when I say it would be a loss to withdraw it. It should be soundly engrafted into the very essence of our system and become thereby an inseparable part. Whatever may be said against its introduction into the schools, I do not think any will deny that its tendency is to cultivate the aesthetic nature of the child, and to elevate and refine it. In doing this, it preserves order, aids discipline, promotes the attention of the pupils, and hence must increase their progress in general study.

To what I deem the most important question of the day, "Compulsory Education," I desire to call your patient attention. This is a subject which has long excited the attention of philanthropists and educators. Wherever the compulsory feature of common school instruction has been adopted, it has borne good fruits, such indeed as its advocates had always rightly expected. Pennsylvania which has hitherto taken an advanced position among the states leading in educational matters, is in this respect at least sadly behind hand. There is every argument in favor of coercive instruction, and there is no sound argument to combat it. We have the verdict of statistics in all countries, that education lessens crime, reduces pauperism, and conserves individual and governmental prosperity. A citizen of Massachusetts, a keen-sighted observer, struck the keynote in his advocacy of this feature when he said: "With growing faith in moral suasion as our main reliance in preventing absenteeism, or reclaiming truants, I contend that we should have the authority of the law with its sterner sanctions to fall back upon in extreme cases. Where parental pride, interest, or authority fail, and juvenile perverseness is otherwise incorrigible, legal coercion should be employed." Our own Governor, deeply sensible of the importance of this sanction of the law, devoted no inconsiderable portion of his recent message to the necessity of securing it. He said, prior to his extended argument in favor of it:

"If a parent neglects the education of a child or selfishness demands its earnings when the State affords the facilities for its instruction, can it be argued that it is despotic or destructive of the principles of free institutions to compel the attendance of that child at school, and is it not a duty which the State owes, not to the child alone, but to her own safety, to rescue it from the condition of life, this indifference or greed may impose upon it, and prepare it not only to be self-sustaining, but a good citizen as well?"

And further on he adds :

"There is, however, a more urgent reason why the State should compel the education of all the children within her jurisdiction. It is patent to every observer that where there is an aggregation of the ignorant and criminal classes, the laws regulating suffrage are frequently violated. The most effective remedy for this pernicious evil is the school. It is the nursery of the good citizen; regulates his will and action by certain fixed principles, informs and disciplines his mind, and excites and fortifies his self-respect. Receiving his education at the hands of the State, the child learns to look upon her as his benefactor, and with the increase of his intelligence, there is a corresponding growth in his respect and veneration for the Commonwealth, from whose beneficence he has so rich an offering."

I think that we have all learned, or ought to have learned by this time, that ignorance is the most dangerous element any people, seeking the highest form of social happiness and strength, must combat. It grows, too, most prolific in large cities like our own, where there should be the largest facilities for learning, and where the opportunities for enlightenment are greater than in the country. We may easily obtain the appliances for education, but experience has shown that we cannot rely on moral suasion to procure us the material to be operated upon. Can we afford to permit an army of youth to grow up a prey to vice and the lowest barbarism, because parental prejudice, lack of authority, negligence or greed, are interposed between the children and the school? If ignorance impoverishes,—and no one can deny it,—who can estimate the loss accruing from the neglect of educating one-fifth of the children in a city like our own? The right to the rudiments, at least, of knowledge should be a legal right, and no short-sighted parental policy, or blind bigotry, should operate against the child's possession of the right. We must remember that the child has no control over its existence, that it is helpless, with such surroundings as chance may send, and without the least ability to modify or improve them. Its status is wholly unlike that of any other member of the community. It is without the power of forming a correct opinion of what is requisite for its own good, and is an easy prey to vagabondism. Others, therefore, must do for it what it can not accomplish itself, and we will be guilty of criminal negligence if we make no sturdy effort to rear it to honorable manhood. Compulsory education is a method for self-preservation. We know that life and property are protected by enactments which are supported by popular will. Life and property are mainly in danger by the presence of an ignorant body of the community compelled to resort to crime for a livelihood. We can rid this body of its gigantic proportions by the compulsory enlightenment of the youth who, otherwise, will become its recruits. Is it not, then, the part of wisdom and public policy to force the boy into the school to avoid forcing the man into prison or the almshouse? Is it not better to exert force in the making of a good citizen than in the punishment of the bad one? The great mass of the people realize that the school is their privilege; but all should be taught that universal education fraternizes a nation, improves its social life, ennobles homes, promotes virtue, and secures prosperity and peace. Society, therefore, should exert its powers for the benefit of the prospective victims of vice, and should, if necessary, call in the stern assistance of the law to save them. I believe that every day's delay in the enactment and enforcement of such a law as shall secure to all our youth what I claim to be their constitutional heritage,—an education,—works a grave injury to both them and the community. Let us bend our efforts to secure its benefits for Philadelphia.

I will admit that such an act must be framed with the utmost circumspection; that it may be against public policy, because against private interest, to compel an attendance of pupils throughout the day, but it is possible to require that all shall spend a stipulated portion of the year, in the day or night schools, as shall prove most convenient. Let us decide upon an earnest effort to secure the law, and then we may adopt such modifications as prudence shall suggest. We have the experience of sister states and foreign governments, and the verdict is decidedly in favor of compulsory education.

There is one thought which we should keep before us in revising our courses of study, and that is not to impose too heavily upon the tender faculties of the child. The pupil should not be burdened with too great a task, for it results in trifling, in heartless fagging, and its benefits are utterly lost. We should bear in mind that the child must have plenty of recreation, to give him a new zeal for his books. Sydney Smith condensed the results of his long and valuable experience into one pithy suggestion. "It is not to be disputed," he said, "that three hours of hearty, spirited exertion will do more in the way of learning than is accomplished in six hours in most schools." It has been one of our chief aims to avoid this error, and we should carefully guard against it in the future.

I desire to say one word in commendation of the Committees of this Board before I close. Their labors are onerous, their task often a thankless one. Nevertheless, all have acquitted themselves honorably of the trusts confided to their care; devoting to them a great deal of valuable time, and often compelled to forego individual interests. Gentlemen, I know of but one compensation for this fidelity: the satisfaction of knowing that you have at least performed your duties conscientiously.

M. HALL STANTON.

Messrs. JAMES FREEBORN, THOMAS R. DAVIS, ANDREW
NEBINGER, M. D., JOHN SHEDDEN, and JAMES S.
WHITNEY, Committee on Central High School.

SIRS:—

The report of the Central High School for the year ending December 31, 1874, is herein submitted.

The Course of Study, with an alteration, which is not to take effect until the beginning of the Seventy-fourth Term, in February, 1875, is as follows:

COURSE OF STUDY IN THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL.

The change referred to, which has received the sanction of the Board of Public Education, consists in the substitution of higher arithmetic, commercial calculations, and mensuration, for book-keeping, and the restriction of the department of commercial calculations, business forms, and penmanship, to the teaching of penmanship alone.

This change is in every way a good one, and will, it is anticipated, produce more practical results in the preparation of students for mercantile life.

Professor George Corliss has resigned his position, to take effect on February 12, 1875, and Mr. George W. Schock has been elected to take charge of the new department. It is with regret that the faculty will part from a gentleman who has been painstaking and conscientious in his efforts to discharge the onerous duties of his chair.

In September the institution sustained a serious loss in the death of Louis Angélé, professor of the German language. He was at first detained from school by an inflammation of the foot, which was not thought dangerous, but, unfortunately, mortification took place, and very soon resulted in death.

The funeral was attended by the members of the Board of Public Education, by the faculty of the school, and by large numbers of present and former students.

For fourteen years Professor Angélé had been connected with the school, during all which time his rare learning, his untiring assiduity, and his kindliness of disposition had endeared him to all who knew him, and had won for him universal respect and esteem. He was indeed a good and faithful servant, and his name will always be preserved with affectionate veneration in the records of the institution.

Mr. Max Straube has been elected to the vacant chair, and has entered upon his duties with spirit and industry.

The professors have continued to labor with the usual result, and the year closed with a very pleasant expression on their part of mutual satisfaction and good wishes.

The Visiting Committee, the Board of Public Education, and the Councils of the City deserve praise for their co-operation in all measures proposed for the welfare of the institution.

The discipline is good. The parents are kept constantly informed as to the progress of their sons, and, when necessary, home influences are invoked in support of the rules of the school. The students themselves evince a spirit which materially assists the professors in the discharge of their duties.

The average attendance continues to increase, being for the year 614.73, which is certainly unprecedented. This fact is a gratifying evidence of the popularity of the school, but, at the same time, it brings in its train very serious inconveniences. The classes are becoming so large as to impair the efficiency of the instruction. It is difficult for the professors to do justice to the individual claims of so many students, and this not only in the lower but in the higher classes. The magnitude of this evil no one can fail to appreciate. Every year it is more and more apparent that additional teachers and increased accommodation must be provided for the institution. During a large portion of each term it is impossible to seat the whole school in the lecture room, and frequently there are not desks enough in the class rooms for all who need them.

Either a new building or a considerable enlargement of the present one, with an increased corps of instructors must be provided, and at no distant date, or a permanent reduction must be made in the number of students received at the semi-annual admissions. Special attention is asked to this matter, as it is of great practical importance.

The appropriations for apparatus have been expended in purchasing the following additions to the collection in the several departments named.

DEPARTMENT OF DRAWING.

Three hundred and three new cards; working models of the following:—speed pulleys; pulley with tightening pulley; chain and chain-pulley; annular wheel and pinion; cog-wheel and lantern; eccentric and cams; connecting rod and guides.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS.

Melloni's complete apparatus for illustrating the reflection, refraction, transmission and polarization of heat ; galvanometer astatic) and Thermo pile for same ; model of Vernier for straight lines ; model of Vernier for curved lines ; equilibrium figure ; models for illustration of centre of gravity ; reaction float ; apparatus for illustration of the theorem of Archimedes ; Nicholson's hydrometer ; universal hydrometer ; Boyle's apparatus ; densimeter, graduated from 1,000 to 1,900 ; densimeter, graduated from 1,000 to 700 ; inclined capillary laminae ; capillary tubes, balls, &c. ; sliding scale for barometric corrections ; manometer with free air ; manometer with compressed air ; apparatus for the liquefaction of gas ; Prony's apparatus for maintaining a constant head of liquid ; magic bottle and funnel ; apparatus for the maximum density of water ; Drebbel's air thermometer ; apparatus for obtaining the freezing and boiling points ; Wedgewood's pyrometer ; Walferdin's maximum thermometer ; Rutherford's minimum thermometer ; Negretti's maximum thermometer ; cryophorus ; alcarraza ; apparatus for the demonstration of the spheroidal state ; Gay Lussac's syphon barometer ; Daniell's hygrometer ; modification of Rumford's apparatus ; Jamin's modification of Ingenhousz's apparatus ; Depretz's apparatus for conduction of heat ; Rumford's thermoscope ; safety lamp ; eolipile, with horizontal jet ; Regnault's hypsometer ; pyrometer, with graduated circle for different metals ; Pouillet's apparatus for the tension of saturated vapors ; Fourier's thermometer ; barometer gauge ; apparatus for the conduction of heat in a vacuum ; graduated pipette for the introduction of liquids into mercury tubes ; Carré's apparatus, with accessories, for the production of ice ; Haüy's goniometer ; tourmaline plates ; prisms of flint and crown glass for achromatism ; Foucault's regulator of the electric light ; wire gauge ; Delezenne's circle ; Wheatstone's bridge ; Peltier's electroscope ; Gaugain's galvanometer ; Thomson's galvanometer ; rheostat ; model of Vernier for straight lines ; model of Vernier for curved lines ; Boyle's pump areometer ; apparatus for showing the influence of the shape of the meniscus on the height of the liquid column; Dutochet's endosmometer; receiver with two barometers, to show atmospheric pressure; metallic pyrometer; eolipile with vertical jet; barometer tubes, on stand for comparing the tension of vapors; graduated pipette; small endosmoscope.

DEPARTMENT ANATOMY, PHYSIOLOGY, AND NATURAL HISTORY.

Ear of a bird; ear of a fish; human tongue, greatly enlarged; dentition of a horse at various periods; table showing the structure of a horse's teeth; snail; leech; idiot's brain; elephant's brain; grain of wheat; melon, male flower; melon, female flower; pea, flower; pea, magnified pod, with ovals at the beginning of development; pea, magnified pod, with ovals at the end of development.

An exhibition of "Selected Declamations" was given to the friends and relatives of the students on the evening of Thursday, April 30, 1874, which was attended by marked and very gratifying success. A crowded audience was present, and all appeared to be impressed with the ability shown by the speakers selected for the occasion.

During the year some important repairs and improvements to the building have been effected, but the appropriations were insufficient to do all that was required. The halls and some of the class-rooms were painted and one flight of stairs renewed. It is earnestly hoped that every effort will be made to secure an appropriation for painting the other rooms and for renewing the upper flight of stairs. The front of the building also requires to be cleaned.

Again it is my privilege to invite citizens to visit the school. It is right that they should know the merits of an institution which is peculiarly their own, and it is believed that the more intimate their acquaintance with it becomes, the stronger will be their appreciation of the work that it is doing, and of its well-grounded claim upon their confidence and support.

To Messrs. SIMÓN GRATZ, JAMES H. MACBRIDE, M. P. HUTCHINSON, M.D., JAMES MILLIGAN, Jr., and JOHN M. CAMPBELL.

GENTLEMEN:—In obedience to an established custom, the Annual Report for the year ending December 31, 1874, comprising the fifty-second and fifty-third terms, is hereby respectfully submitted.

The following statement exhibits the number of pupils in attendance at the beginning and end of each term; also, those admitted and withdrawn since the last report.

At the examination held in April and October, under the supervision of the Committee on Qualifications of Teachers, one hundred and eighty-three certificates were granted to pupils of the school, as follows: Ninety-two at the April examination, and ninety-one at the one held in October.

The condition and organization of the school are substantially the same as they were when the last annual report was presented; no change has been made in the course of instruction except the substitution of the "Spencerian System of Penmanship" in the place of "Becker's." This change, no doubt, was a wise one, as it secures uniformity in penmanship in all the schools.

The following summary, showing the number admitted and left, attendance, and number of graduates semi-annually; also, the average attendance, and number appointed annually to situations as teachers, will be of interest to many in the investigation of our system of public education.

The teachers continue to labor with the most indefatigable industry. Their united efforts to promote the interests of the school merit the highest praise. Many parents have visited the school during the year, and have spoken in the most flattering terms of the importance and value of the institution.

The close application, untiring industry, and correct deportment of the pupils, show their high appreciation of the benefits conferred.

Towards the close of the year, Miss Lelia E. Patridge, on account of failing health, resigned her position as teacher in the Department of Elocution and Physical Exercises. Miss Patridge's labors in the school have been attended with the most gratifying results in Physical Culture. Successful instruction in this branch has demonstrated that education to be complete and symmetrical, includes both physical and mental training; and the beneficial effects experienced in this school lead to the hope that all schools, from the lowest to the highest grade, will, at no distant day, be provided with everything necessary for Physical Exercises; and that school authorities will see the necessity of establishing systematic and scientific methods of physical training. Attempts to introduce gymnastics into schools by teachers totally ignorant of the principles on which physical training is based, have, in many cases, resulted in failure. To insure success, well trained and enthusiastic teachers are essential.

Miss Clara R. Philips, a graduate of the school, was appointed to the Department of Elocution and Physical Exercises. Her labors, during the last term, have been marked by industry and energy, giving evidence that she will prove a valuable instructor.

The appropriation for the Department of Philosophy and Chemistry has furnished some valuable apparatus, among which may be mentioned a fine Spectroscope, Microscope, Electrical Machine, Voltaic Battery, and a great variety of small, but necessary articles. But few additions have been made to the library in consequence of the unusual demand upon the appropriation for incidentals.

At the commencement in January, the "Dodd Medals" were awarded to Miss Ida E. Lever and Maria Filson; in June, to Misses Clara R. Philips and Lillie W. Hemphill.

It is due to the Committee on the school, the Board of Education, and City Councils, to say that all connected with the institution feel much gratified for their successful efforts in securing an appropriation for the new school-building. The plan adopted by the Committee on Property will furnish a structure, which, for convenience and comfort, will probably have no superior in the world. It is earnestly hoped that their desires and intentions, in regard to its erection may be speedily consummated.

The crowded and uncomfortable condition of the building now occupied seriously affects the health of both pupils and teachers, and greatly cripples their united and individual efforts. There are other grave reasons for expedition in the erection of the new building; among these, is the objectionable character of the present locality, which is constantly becoming worse, and for which there is no remedy.

At the close of the Fifty-first Term, ending January 28, 1874, the following ladies graduated, and received their diplomas:—

Ida E. Lever, Maria Filson, Hannah M. Cheyney, Flora Simon, Gertrude S. Pile, Caroline W. Greenbank, Anna R. Winchester, Elizabeth C. Robinson, Martha E. Hetherington, Amelia J. Allen, Anna B. DeWitt, Mary Gilbert, Caroline W. Greenbank, Ella T. Wise, Anna Lees, Clara R. Philips.

Total, . . . . 80.

The average attendance for the year was five hundred and eighty-two, from an average roll of five hundred and eighty-four.

Hoping that this brief report may enable you to form satisfactory conclusions in reference to the condition and necessities of the school, permit me, gentlemen, to hope for a continuance of that aid and encouragement so much needed in the performance of the responsible duties devolving on me.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE W. FETTER,

GIRLS' NORMAL SCHOOL,

REPORT

OF THE

Committee on Public Evening Schools.

---

To the President and Members of the Board of Public Education.

GENTLEMEN:—The Committee on Public Evening Schools respectfully report the closing of these schools on the twenty-sixth January, ultimo, after a term of three months, the same being opened on the twenty-sixth of October, 1874.

Of these schools twenty-one (21) were for males; nine (9) for females; seven (7) were for males and females; and four (4) were for colored males and females, making a total of forty-one (41) schools, into which were gathered sixteen thousand six hundred eighty-one (16,681) scholars.

Two hundred and fifteen (215) teachers were engaged in the work of instruction, and with such marked success, that your Committee cannot but regret that the term of these schools could not have been protracted throughout the entire winter, so earnest and anxious were the scholars—old men and young men, old women and young women, crowding these schools nightly to overflowing, to acquire that knowledge of which they had been deprived in early life. Accompanying will be found a list, giving the location of these several schools and other matters of interest pertaining thereto.

REPORT
OF THE
Architect and Superintendent of Public School Buildings,
FOR THE YEAR ENDING DEC. 31, 1874.

To the Board of Public Education of the First School District of Pennsylvania.

GENTLEMEN :—Your Superintendent presents the following statement of operations and state of progress in connection with the erection of new school-buildings during the year just closed. Of the number commenced in 1873, those completed during 1874 were :

The "Mount Vernon," on Catharine, west of Third Street, in the Third Section, finished May 11, 1874.

The "William M. Meredith," on Fifth Street, below Monroe Street, in the Fourth Section, finished July 1, 1874.

The "Thaddeus Stevens," on Seventeenth, above Coates Street, in the Fifteenth Section, finished May 6, 1874.

The "Adams," on Adams, near Amber Street, in the Nineteenth Section, finished March 10, 1874.

The "William H. Hunter," at the corner of Dauphin and Mascher Streets (Nineteenth Section), finished November 1, 1874.

The "Spencer Roberts," at Twenty-first and Mill Streets, in the Twenty-second Section, finished March 10, 1874.

The "Henry Herbert," corner of Frankford Avenue and Foulkrod Street, in the Twenty-third Section, finished March 28, 1874.

The "William S. Pierce," corner of Twenty-fourth and Christian Streets, in the Twenty-sixth Section, finished March 20, 1874.

The "Chas. W. Schaeffer" School-house, corner of German-town Avenue and Wyoming Avenue, which was commenced in August, 1873, still remains unfinished. The Building Inspectors having condemned the walls, your Superintendent notified the contractors to take them down and rebuild them; up to the present time they have failed to do so, and the matter has been referred to the City Solicitor.

The "Oakdale," at the corner of Eleventh and Huntingdon Streets, was also commenced in 1873, by the same contractors, in the month of August, but, owing to the slow progress of the work, still remains unfinished. The building has been plastered and the original contract (for the first and second stories) will probably be complied with by the first of April, 1875. A supplemental contract was made with Mr. Fitch for the completion of the third-story on December 29, 1874, for the sum of $1,388; with promptness on the part of the contractor the whole should be ready for use at the time stated, April 1, 1875.

A description of all of the above buildings was given in the Superintendent's Report for 1873.

The following buildings were started during the year 1874, and also completed before its close:

The "Feltonville" School-house, at the corner of Second Street Road and Fisher's Lane, in the Twenty-second Section, a gray stone building of two stories, with capacity for 120 pupils, commenced June 10, 1874, occupied December 15, 1874. George Nonemaker was the contractor; the cost was $6,600.

The "Tacony" School-house at Tacony, in the Twenty third Section, a two-storied brown stone building, with capacity for 120 pupils, commenced May 1, and finished October 5, 1874. Thomas B. Taylor was the contractor, for $7,344.

The "Wilmot," at Cherry and Meadow Streets, Frankford, in the Twenty-third Section, a gray stone building of same size as the above, commenced April 10, and finished September 10, 1874. Wm. Keas was the contractor, for $6,900.

The "Camac," at the corner of Thirteenth and Susquehanna Avenue, a three-storied green stone building with brown stone dressings, capacity 18 divisions. The original contract was for the enclosing of the building and finishing of the first and second stories only. This contract was awarded to George and Hiram A. Miller for $32,150. Work was started on March 25, 1874, and completed January 12, 1875. On December 29, 1874, a contract was made with Thomas McCarty for finishing the third story for the sum of $1,670. Work is now progressing, and will probably be completed by the first of April, 1875.

The unfinished buildings which were commenced in 1874 have progressed as follows :

The "Levin Handy Smith" School-house, corner Fifth and Snyder Streets, in the First Section, a three-storied brown stone building of fifteen divisions, commenced June 20, 1874. The plastering is now being done. The building will probably be finished by May 1, 1875. Philip H. Somerset is the contractor ; cost, $32,921.

The "Horace Binney," on Spruce below Sixth Street, in the Fifth Section. This building, formerly used as a Presbyterian church, and recently for the State Constitutional Convention, has been so thoroughly remodeled as to make it practically a modern building with all the advantages of ventilation, &c. It contains seventeen divisions. Work was commenced July 15, 1874, and will be completed in a few days. H. B. Leskie is contractor ; cost, $16,500.

The "Alfred Crease," at Rittenhousetown, in the Twenty-first Section, a gray stone building of four divisions, commenced August 20, 1874, is now being prepared for plastering and will probably be finished by April 15, 1875. W. B. Wartman, contractor ; cost, $8,525.

The "Germantown," on Adams Street, in the Twenty-second Section, a three-storied gray stone building with brown stone dressings, with eighteen divisions, commenced August 1, 1874. The floors are now being laid; the whole will probably be completed by July 1, 1875. Charles C. Carman is contractor; cost, $39,770.

The "Elwood," at Milestown, in the Twenty-second Section, a two-storied gray stone building of four divisions, will not be started until spring opens. Jacob Mattis, contractor; cost, $10,000; will probably be finished September 1, 1875.

The "Martha Washington," at the corner of Forty-fourth and Huron Streets, in the Twenty-fourth Section, a three-storied gray stone building of eighteen divisions, commenced May 20, 1874, is now being prepared for plastering, and will probably be finished by August 1, 1875. John Maxwell is the contractor; cost, $45,717.

The "Jesse George," corner of Sixty-third and Hamilton Streets, in the Twenty-fourth Section, a three-storied gray stone building of fifteen divisions, commenced June 15, 1874, is being prepared for plastering, and will probably be finished by May 1, 1875. Philip Somerset is contractor; cost, $33,916.

The "Jeremiah Nichols," corner of Sixteenth and Wharton Streets, Twenty-sixth Section, a three-storied brown stone building with green stone dressings, eighteen divisions, commenced May 1, 1874. The plastering has been finished, and the whole will probably be completed by May 1, 1875. Chas. D. Supplee is contractor; cost, $35,443.

The School-house on Forty-seventh near Locust, Twenty-seventh Section, a two-storied gray stone building, of eight divisions, commenced September 1, 1874. The first floor of joists is on, and the building will probably be completed by September 1, 1875. Smith & Bradley, contractors; cost, $18,000.

The School-house corner Sixtieth and South Streets, in the Twenty-seventh Section, a two-storied gray stone building of eight divisions. Will not be commenced until spring. Philip H Somerset, contractor; cost, $18,412. Will probably be finished by January 1, 1876.

The "Muhlenburg," corner of Seventeenth and Master Streets, in the Twenty-ninth Section, a two-storied brown stone building of eight divisions, commenced June 15, 1874, is now being plastered, and will probably be completed by April 1, 1875. Columbus Tweed, contractor; cost, $16,100.

The "George G. Meade," corner of Eighteenth and Oxford Streets, in the Twenty-ninth Section, a three-storied brown stone building with green stone dressings, of twenty-four divisions, commenced June 15, 1874, is being prepared for plastering, and will probably be finished by September 1, 1875. Smith & Bradley, contractors; cost, $54,000.

The "Girls Normal School." Plans were prepared for the building by your Architect, and proposals were received on the fourteenth of October from twelve contractors. Stephen Rush & Son were the lowest bidders, and the Committee on Property being satisfied that they were reliable and competent builders, awarded the contract to them. On the nineteenth of October the Messrs. Rush notified the Board formally, that they declined to go on with the contract, they having discovered errors in their calculations amounting to over $20,000. The Committee on Property intend to readvertise for proposals, leaving the matter of the forfeited bond of the Messrs. Rush with the City Solicitor.

It would be very desirable to obtain from the Legislature a modification of the Act of Assembly in relation to awarding contracts, at least in the case of the Normal School, so that the Board might select a number of thoroughly reliable and competent builders, and limit the competition to them; it is firmly believed that the competition would secure a reasonable cost to the city, and a more satisfactory building to the Board of Education. As the Architect has gone over the same ground in previous reports he will not trespass on your patience at this time.

It will be seen from the above details, that during the year 1874, twenty-five (25) new school-houses were in course of erection, eleven (11) of which have been finished, leaving fourteen (14) still in course of construction. The cost of the whole will be $747,725. In addition to the above, plans have been prepared for the Normal School-building as before stated, also for a school-house at the corner of Twelfth and Ogden Streets, in the Fourteenth Section ; at the corner of Broad and McFarran Streets, in the Twenty-fifth Section, and at Point Breeze, in the Twenty-sixth Section.

Plans have been ordered for the extension of the Lincoln School-house, at Twentieth Street and Fairmount Avenue, and the White Hall School-house, at White Hall, in the Twenty-third Section.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

L. H. ESLER,
Architect and Superintendent.

GRADED COURSE OF INSTRUCTION

FOR THE

Grammar, Secondary, Primary, and Consolidated Schools

OF THE

This course of instruction, and the rules accompanying the same, shall form a part of the rules of the Board, and shall not, in any respect, be changed, unless such change shall be proposed at one stated meeting of the Board to be acted upon at the next, and shall receive the approval of two-thirds of the whole Board.

The principals of the Primary, Secondary, and Grammar Schools shall require to be taught in their respective departments the entire amount of study herein assigned to each, by such an apportionment of the said studies among the several divisions as in their judgment may seem best.

The period of six months shall be devoted to the instruction of each division in the studies allotted to it.

STUDIES ASSIGNED TO THE PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

ALPHABET.—Cards Nos. 1 to 8.

SPELLING.—Willson's Primary Speller, the first 95 lessons, or Worcester's Primary Speller, the first 144 lessons, or New American Primary Speller. (Each teacher's desk shall be supplied with a copy of Webster's or Worcester's Octavo Dictionary.)

READING.—Willson's or Hillard's Primer, completed. Hillard's Second Reader, completed, or Willson's Second Reader to page 135, or New American First and Second Readers completed. The meaning and use of words occurring in the reading lessons to be explained.

LESSONS INTRODUCTORY TO PENMANSHIP.—Instruction in the proper method of sitting, holding the pen, and the formation of small and capital letters—using for this purpose slate and pencil.

DICTATION.—Words from Willson's Charts Nos. 4, 5, and 6; or words in spelling and reading lessons. The simplest directions for using capitals at the beginning of sentences and names of persons and places.

ARITHMETIC.—Notation and Numeration—Reading and writing numbers from one to one hundred million.

Tables.—Addition, Subtraction, Multiplication, Division, Federal Money, Avoirdupois Weight, Dry and Liquid Measure.

Mental Arithmetic.—Exercises from French's First Lessons (Revised Edition) to page 71, or from Brooks' Primary to page 51.

Practical Arithmetic.—Practical Examples in Addition, Subtraction, Multiplication, Short Division and Long Division—Divisors not to exceed three figures, from French's First Lessons (Revised Edition), or from Brooks' Primary.

ORAL INSTRUCTION AND OBJECT LESSONS.—Common objects to be shown, and their most obvious parts and qualities to be pointed out. Charts Nos. 1 and 2. Color.—The principal and familiar colors to be shown by means of Chart No. 13. The terms straight, crooked, square-corner, sharp-corner, blunt-corner, round-corner, to be explained. Conversation upon reading lessons, so as to assist the pupils to comprehend what they read; and upon the uses of familiar animals. Explanation of simple forms, as circle, oblong, semi-circle, oval, hemisphere, and cone; also position of lines, as slanting, horizontal, vertical. Common objects to be shown that the shapes taught may be recognized. The pupils to point out the principal colors on Color Charts, articles of dress, flowers, &c.

MUSIC.—The theory of Music from charts or blackboards. Ten minutes each day, as directed by Superintendent.

PHYSICAL EXERCISES.—Particular attention to be given to full breathing, to position, and such exercises of the arms and shoulders as shall tend to increase the capacity of the lungs and chest; and develop the muscles and bones of the arms and chest; regular and twist movements of the arms and shoulders; also exercises in exploding correctly the simple vowel sounds.

MORALS AND MANNERS.

STUDIES ASSIGNED TO THE SECONDARY DEPARTMENT.

GENERAL REVIEW.

SPELLING.—Worcester's Pronouncing Speller to page 97, or Willson's Larger Speller to page 89. New American Pronouncing, to page —. Oral and written exercises. Geographical names within the limitations as fixed in this department. (Each teacher's desk shall be supplied with a copy of Webster's or Worcester's Octavo Dictionary.)

ARTICULATION AND PRONUNCIATION.—Exercises in Elementary Sounds.

READING.—Willson's Second Reader, completed. The following begun and completed: Hillard's Third, Willson's Third Intermediate, Hillard's Fourth, and Hillard's Intermediate Reader, or New American Third and Fourth Readers. The meaning and use of words occurring in the reading lessons to be explained.

PENMANSHIP.—Review and formation of capital letters from the elements. Copy Books Nos. 1 to 4, inclusive, Spencerian or Potter and Hammond's System of Penmanship.

DICTATION.—Words in Spelling and extracts from reading lessons.

DRAWING.—Bartholomew's System Cards, in Envelopes Nos. 1 and 2, Primary Series.

COMPOSITION.—Swinton's Language Primer in the First Division. The examination on this subject shall not extend further than to

1. Short sentences containing the several parts of speech.
2. The proper use of capital letters.
3. The punctuation points and other characters used in writing.
4. The proper forms of writing letters and receipts.

ARITHMETIC.—Notation and Numeration, and Arithmetical Tables.

Mental Arithmetic.—Mental exercises, Fundamental Rules, United States Money and Fractions from French's Mental, Revised Edition, or Brooks'.

Practical Arithmetic.—Definitions and Practical Examples in Fundamental Rules; Common Divisors and Common Multiples, United States Money and Fractions to end of Division, from French's Elementary Revised Edition, or Brooks' Elementary.

DEFINITIONS.—Webster's Primary School Dictionary to be placed in the hands of the pupils of the first division only, and for reference.

GEOGRAPHY.—Mitchell's or Warren's Primary; Geographical definitions; map questions—excluding boundaries—on the Maps of North America and the United States. The descriptive portions to be used as reading lessons, and not memorized. Map drawing, within the same limits, not to form a subject of examination for promotion to Grammar Schools.

ORAL INSTRUCTION AND OBJECT LESSONS.—Add to simple forms taught in preceding divisions, parallel, perpendicular, angle, circumference, and diameter; also simple forms to be described by the teacher, and to be named by the pupils from the description. Names of common plants, trees, and flowers; also of common fruits and grains. Spaces of one inch to one yard to be placed on blackboard, with exercises to improve the judgment as to size and proportions. Description of objects by their shape, color, and most obvious qualities. Exercises to give the pupils habits of observing and describing the common productions and affairs of life. The location and description of the most prominent objects, and of the principal places in Philadelphia and vicinity; the points of the compass and the use of maps. The uses of familiar objects, such as articles of clothing, food, and materials for building. Instruction in the preparation and uses of familiar objects found in the school-room, such as glass, ink, chalk, paper, pens, and slates. Conversations upon reading lessons.

MUSIC.—The Theory of Music from a suitable manual to be provided for the purpose. Ten minutes each day, as directed by the Superintendent.

PHYSICAL AND VOCAL EXERCISES.—Exercises in deep and full breathing; the regular and twist movement of the hands, arms, and shoulders; exercises in exploding the vowel sounds, both simple and compound, alone and in short syllables. Exercises in the sounds called liquids, dentals, gutturals, linguals, labials, and nasals.

NO. 1.

SPELLING.

No system of classification has been yet invented to render, by inflexible rules, the acquirement of a knowledge of spelling possible. Such knowledge can be obtained only by an exercise of the memory, and by habits of attention and observation, begun in early life, and carefully persisted in.

Exercises in this branch of study should be both oral and written, and daily practised.

In conducting oral exercises, a pupil should pronounce the word distinctly before spelling by its syllables; he should have but a single trial, and if he fails, he should always be required to spell it correctly immediately after its correction, or at the close of the recitation; or he may be required to write it several times, that he may become familiar with its form, for, truly, on this subject it is only "line upon line, precept upon precept," that can accomplish anything.

In conducting written exercises, the pupil should, when required, divide the word into its proper syllables. These exercises should be examined either by the teacher herself, or under her personal supervision; and, in all cases, the pupil should be required to correct his errors.

Teachers should pronounce the word but once in oral exercises, and not more than twice in written exercises, and never in an unnatural or unusual tone, or so as to indicate the orthography. The exercises may be varied by requiring the entire word to be spelled, or to be spelled by syllables, or by letter. Especial care should be taken to secure distinct articulation and correct pronunciation; the utterance of each sound should be clear, sharp, and full. Concert spelling, if practised at all, should be stopped the instant that it becomes measured or sing-song.

A teacher should never assign a lesson without first pronouncing each word to be spelled, and having the pupils spell it in syllables, and afterwards pronounce it at sight. Attention should be called to difficult and unusual spelling whenever it may occur, and no errors of orthography should pass unnoticed.

NO. 2.

READING.

To read with feeling, intelligence, and acceptance, the reader must understand what the writer means—must enter into the spirit of the composition, and have his voice entirely under his control.

It is not in the power of every one to become, in that respect, a good reader; but as that which is worth doing at all is worth doing well, and as reading is one of the established branches of education, it is proper to give it all the attention which will lead to the utmost acquirement of skill of which the pupil may be capable.

In order to secure the control and cultivation of the voice, attention should be given in the lower divisions to what is technically termed the explosion of elementary sounds. This exercise, care being taken not to strain the voice, will be followed by other good results than those under consideration; will strengthen the lungs and afford relaxation, so as to better enable the pupil to renew attention to the studies which shall succeed. The pupil should stand during the exercise, and the atmosphere of the room should be changed. Attention in the higher divisions should, in addition, be paid to quality, force, time, and pitch of the voice.

The repetition of a badly read sentence does no good unless the faults be clearly marked out, and the correct reading given by the teacher, or by a pupil who has mastered the difficulty. Some concert reading may be beneficial, provided the teacher is careful to stop it instantly if it falls into sing-song or measured reading, or when it tends to the development of unpleasant or unnatural tones. Short sentences are much better than long ones for this purpose, as they do not tempt to measured reading.

Mental discipline should be co-ordinate with vocal discipline. No dull, listless, unthinking pupil can ever become a good reader. The teacher must awaken thought; a lesson which the pupil can understand should be selected; something a little in advance of what he has already learned, but yet within the range of his comprehension. The lesson should be talked about, and the ideas of the pupils drawn out and corrected, if erroneous. His knowledge of the subject may be tested by asking a question, by requiring him to substitute one or more words that shall change the form, but not the meaning of the passage; or by asking some question requiring that portion as an answer.

A very common fault is that of stumbling, hesitating, and repeating; to cure which the teacher should make the most earnest and determined efforts. It may arise from carelessness, from the use of books in advance of the pupil's ability, or from his failing to grasp the idea in time to give it clear utterance; or it may result from being permitted to indulge in a similar habit in other recitations. A poor reader cannot study or recite well.

While a class are reading, the undivided attention of the teacher, as well as of the pupils, should be given to the exercise. Pupils should be encouraged to criticise each other fairly and justly. During the progress of the reading no interruption should be permitted; but at its close, those that have noticed an error should have an opportunity to correct it; and each should be required to explain and illustrate his own criticism.

Declamation need not be insisted upon until pupils in this branch are somewhat advanced.

NO. 3.

PENMANSHIP.

One system should be taught throughout the Primary, the Secondary, and the Grammar Schools, so that as the pupils pass from one grade to another, they will not be obliged to unlearn what they have already acquired in regard to the distinctive features of that system. Thus the pupils will the more readily perfect and carry out the principles they have already partially become acquainted with, such as the movements of the hand and arm; analysis and rules for the formation of the letters, the position of sitting, the manner of holding the pen, the correct slope and shading of the letters, uniformity in spacing, neatness, and elegance of style, legibility, ease, and rapidity of writing.

The constant use of the blackboard or charts in contrasting the proper forms of the letters with erroneous forms made by the pupil, is indispensable in teaching writing.

The copy written upon the board by the teacher must always conform to the system used. The pupil must not be allowed to write rapidly before he is able to write a legible hand.

The great aim of the teacher must be to impart a plain, neat handwriting, devoid of flourish or ornament, for no other style is suitable for business purposes.

Whenever practicable, the teaching should be by the same teacher in all the grades of a school.

When it is thought advisable not to give the child a pen, a long slate pencil, or a penholder, with a slate pencil inserted, should be used, and if a primary slate with the elementary forms on the margin could be adopted, it would serve a good purpose in amusing and instructing the pupil in drawing and writing.

The time spent should not exceed five minutes to a lesson, and two or three lessons a day would be ample to form good habits at the commencement.

NO. 4.

DRAWING.

In introducing the subject of Drawing into our schools, one serious difficulty presents itself, which, however, it is thought, may be easily overcome by a little perseverance on the part of the teachers.

The difficulty consists in the want of the necessary training on the part of the pupils of the higher divisions of the schools to fit them for entering at once upon the task laid down for them in the Revised Course of Studies herewith presented. It is, therefore, necessary that the teachers of these be directed to give the necessary preliminary instructions until pupils, who are regularly trained, be promoted to these divisions from the lower divisions.

It is proposed that in the lower divisions the form and size of the simple plane figures bounded by three and four lines, and the comparative size of the same shall be illustrated on the blackboard.

Also, the length of lines, or of any objects in sight, and the comparative length shall be observed by the pupils, and the width and the comparative width of the plane figures mentioned above, and of any objects in sight.

Direction is also to be explained; as from one point to another on the board, and the direction from one object to another, both in and out of the school-room, as to the right, to the left, upward, downward, &c. Distance and comparative distance are to be explained in like manner.

All the instruction in this division should have special reference to the correct discipline of the eye of the pupil, for on this depends almost entirely the future progress of the pupil in this art. The faults in enlarging or diminishing a subject in copying it should be corrected as early as possible and the pupils taught to measure length and distance by the eye. Some pupils will uniformly produce a copy of a subject of much smaller size than the original; others again will just as perseveringly produce one of much larger size. The thorough correction of these faults will require much patience and perseverance on the part of the teacher.

All lessons in this division should be abundantly illustrated by drawings on the board, or the objects themselves, and the teacher should be supplied with a complete set of apparatus for the purpose.

It is also of primary importance that the instructions to teachers given in the "Teacher's Guide," which accompanies the series of Drawing Books, be rigidly adhered to in the various divisions, that the subject be taught by "the system," and that the pupil be led by induction from that which is known to that which is unknown, so that each step of progress may prepare him for the next.

NO. 5.

DICTATION.

Apart from the importance of this exercise in imparting a knowledge of spelling and impressing the forms of words upon the mind, it teaches in an easy manner the use of the punctuation and other marks.

In the primary and the secondary grades it is expected only that pupils shall be able to recognize and name the marks assigned to their divisions, and to make and place them under the direction of the teacher.

When the pupils advance beyond the primary grades, general and simple directions may be given for using capitals, and the marks of which they have occasion to make most frequent use; this does not require or presuppose a knowledge of grammar, as it can be taught without. The main object should be to impart such instruction as may be made at once available if the pupils should be obliged to leave school before reaching the grammar department.

In the higher divisions it is not deemed necessary or advisable to teach formal, set rules for the use of the punctuation marks, especially of the comma, the semi-colon, and the colon, as this would require more time than can be profitably devoted, and more knowledge and intelligence than can be reasonably expected in pupils of those grades; hence, all technicalities should be avoided, as well as all disputed or doubtful points.

NO. 6.

COMPOSITION.

If properly taught, there is, perhaps, no exercise that is of more practical advantage than that of composition. The pupil should be required to re-write reading or other lessons, using his own phraseology; and, in the higher grades, to transpose poetry into prose.

In letter-writing, attention should be given to the heading, the address, the manner of closing, the direction, etc. In assigning lessons for composition, care should be taken to give none except upon subjects about which the pupil has read, or upon which instruction has been given orally; he should be required to express in his own words what he knows, and be encouraged to write his thoughts freely.

All mistakes in grammar or orthography should be marked; if the errors are numerous, the pupil should be required to re-write the exercise.

NO. 7.

ARITHMETIC.

Mental Arithmetic.—The best way to teach Arithmetic, is to devote about one-third of the time to Mental Arithmetic—a branch of study hitherto too much neglected in the Public Schools of this District. The lessons should, of course, be prepared by the class before recitation, so that the drill may be systematic, not hap-hazard. Pupils so taught will pass even a purely written examination in a manner far more creditable to themselves and their instructors, than if they had spent the whole time at Written Arithmetic. In the Primary Schools, and in the case of pupils in the higher grades who have not before taken up this subject, the exercises should be restricted to operations with small numbers, and to examples of a character not too complicated. Accuracy in analysis, cultivation of memory, and facility in computation, are the things to be aimed at in this study. In general, the mind of the pupil must be trained to act without the aid of paper, slate, or pencil; but when the questions are long and contain several conditions, the pupils should be supplied with text books, and should be permitted to use them during recitation; otherwise, the mind may be too severely taxed in its efforts to retain and solve the question at the same time. After a lesson has been recited, the teacher should improvise questions containing the same principles; but the pupils should not be permitted to use the formulæ previously taught, but should be required to give other methods, and should be encouraged and rewarded for any original solution, especially if it be concise and logical. Concert exercises in arithmetic should be avoided; but sometimes, in order to secure attention and accuracy, a solution may be given by several members of a class, each pupil taking the solution exactly where it was left by his predecessor, without omitting or repeating a word. Great pains should be taken to secure brevity and accuracy in language, and in methods and results.

Written Arithmetic.—The principles involved in this study are of necessity the same as those in Mental Arithmetic. The two studies should be combined in all the higher grades, and pupils should not be permitted to solve the questions under any rule in Written Arithmetic until they shall be able to give a correct analysis of similar questions from a Mental Arithmetic. After the examples assigned for each day have been performed on slates, the teacher should, on the blackboard, give a solution, of one of the examples, offering a clear and thorough explanation; after which, each pupil should solve a question at the blackboard, endeavoring to give an explanation as thorough and explicit as the one given by the teacher. This method inspires the pupil with confidence and self-reliance. If principles, and not rules be taught, teachers will experience no difficulty in making some good arithmeticians.

NO. 8.

DEFINITIONS.

In the lowest grades the teachers should explain the meaning of words found in the lessons by talking about them familiarly and showing how they could be used in short sentences and in ordinary conversation; the pupil should not be expected to commit to memory, but to understand the meaning and the use of words.

In divisions a little higher it is very important to direct the attention of the pupil to the meaning of words with which he is not already familiar. The list of words and their definitions, at the beginning of each reading lesson, should be committed to memory, and the meanings substituted in the passages in which they are found; care must always be taken not to give synonyms, merely, instead of explanations. In the more advanced divisions, every desk should be furnished with a small dictionary, and the pupil taught how to use it, and encouraged to turn to it always when he sees a word whose meaning he does not understand.

NO. 9.

GEOGRAPHY.

There can be no effectual study of Geography without the use of globes. It is true, by close observation and hard labor, a correct and extensive knowledge of localities, &c., may be obtained, but by the aid of globes and large maps, the same knowledge may be gained with less labor, in less time, and with much more pleasure to the pupil.

Effort should be made to render the study pleasant; the pupil's interest and attention should be excited by oral instruction in whatever may be of an interesting character connected with the places mentioned, as the existence of natural curiosities, the association of memorable events, &c.

Matters contained in statistical tables should be regarded more as subjects for reference than memory.

The lessons upon climate, productions, manufactures, exports, inhabitants, forms of government, should be short, simple, and comprehensive, as the object should be to avoid the usual repetition of the same fact.

Map drawing upon the blackboard, &c., so as to obtain correct ideas of the forms of the states, location of mountains, rivers, &c., should be co-ordinate exercise.

NO. 10.

GRAMMAR.

When the study of this very important branch is commenced, the greatest stress should be laid upon oral instruction, and little attention given to formal definitions, except so far as may be necessary to an understanding of the subject under consideration.

In the lower divisions, blackboard exercises are almost indispensable to show the characteristics of different parts of speech, which, as soon as learned, should be applied in the formation of simple sentences; these sentences should, in turn, be analyzed, the words classified, their attributes explained, their changes shown, and the rules of syntax applied. In this way the subject may be rendered interesting, certainly practical, and not a dry study involving nothing but the memorizing of definitions and rules, without any apparent application.

Great attention should be given to the language used in the school-room; and pupils should be encouraged to correct every ungrammatical expression; no violation of the rules of etymology or syntax should be permitted to pass unnoticed in any remark or exercise. Every exercise and every recitation should be so conducted as to accustom pupils to correct modes of expression; all questions should be clear and concise; and every answer should embrace so much of the question as is necessary to make a complete sentence or proposition.

The habits formed in early life determine the style of later years—"The child is father of the man." Much depends upon a knowledge of the principles of syntax, but more upon the example set and encouraged by the teacher and those with whom the pupils associate.

PARSING.—This subject is so closely allied to grammar that it cannot be considered apart from that branch; it is impossible to regard the province of the one as being distinct from the other. The formation of sentences from words, and the analysis of sentences already formed, assist in determining the connection of each word with the others, by showing the dependence and relation of each towards the remainder of the sentence. The extract to be parsed should be read carefully, and its meaning explained, that the pupils may grasp the ideas expressed. In the reading and other lessons, the connection of words may be noticed.

NO. 11.

ORAL INSTRUCTION.

To each grade some topics are assigned for which no text-books are provided. These topics constitute what has been called the "Oral Course." This course is not designed to be exhaustive, but rather to furnish a little recreation from the ordinary routine of book study, at the same time that it gives a simple outline of matters important to be known by all pupils, especially by such as will be unable to go further than the outline. Properly understood and pursued, it will prove of great value, both by reason of the actual knowledge gained, but more especially of the desire awakened for farther and more exhaustive study. The habits of observation which it demands, and the interest which it engenders, are of incalculable value to the student. The incidental advantage of leaving pupils to the expression of their own thoughts and ideas is by no means to be disregarded. These benefits are proportioned to the general intelligence and tact of the teacher, and the reflex influence of the "Oral Course" upon the faithful teacher will appear in increased teaching power. New sources of illustration are opened, and the ability to employ them is largely augmented.

Nearly every recitation furnishes occasion for more or less incidental instruction; but the teacher who embraces every opportunity to switch off upon side issues may be sure that his time will be largely wasted. The thoughtful instructor will find some occasions that he will not dare neglect.

Very many of the topics in the Oral Course can be treated most successfully as Object Lessons. The presence of the object gives life to the study. But mere gossip about the object is of no avail. There must be systematic study. First. What do our senses tell us of the object presented as to color, form, taste, smell, etc. Second. What can we recall of the object when no longer seen, heard, tasted, smelled, or felt? Third. What are its points of resemblance or of contrast when compared with other objects with which we are familiar. Fourth. To which of the three kingdoms of nature does it belong, and what is its general classification. Fifth. What are we to infer as to its uses and practical value. The present knowledge of the child will determine how much time should be spent upon each of the above divisions, but their order may not safely be changed, nor should the attention of the child be diverted from any characteristic until some definite knowledge is gained.

Teachers should make thorough preparation for these exercises, and be sure that their instructions are simple, concise, and accurate. They should never tell a child what he may be made to tell them, and should never give any information without calling for it again.

NO. 12.

HISTORY.

In this branch of study, care should be taken that the memory of the pupil be not burdened with trifling and unimportant facts. Let the teacher seize upon the leading points and impress them upon the pupil's attention. The most prominent incidents only should be associated with dates. In regard to others, it matters but little whether the exact date be remembered.

NO. 13.

MUSIC.

It is recommended, under the limitation which shall be fixed by the Superintendent of Music, that the rudiments of the Theory of Music to be taught in the Primary Department from charts or blackboards, by the regular teachers therein, an acquisition as easy to the child as learning the alphabet; also, that a few of the simplest songs be designated by the Superintendent for the opening and closing exercises of the school.

It is also recommended that the Theory of Music be taught (under the direction and supervision of the Superintendent) in the remaining departments by the regular teachers of the same, from a suitable manual to be provided for the purpose, and that a review of the study of the same be made by the respective music teachers, and, also, that all the practical music in these departments be taught by the music teachers.

If any of the regular teachers feel that they are not qualified to comply with this direction, they will be taught free of charge by the Superintendent of Music.

Music is now regularly incorporated in the course, and it should be the earnest desire of every faithful and progressive teacher, and the direct effort of all that have the best interests of popular education at heart, to engraft it upon the system of education so thoroughly that it may form an inseparable part of it, on account of its direct appeal to the heart, and its direct tendency is to elevate and refine.

NO. 14.

PHYSICAL EXERCISES.

Means should be provided in each school-room for constant ventilation, and when not provided, the windows and doors should be lowered and opened for a few moments several times during each session.

The above injunction is imperative, and teachers should not permit themselves to be guided in this respect by their own feelings.

Each school-room should be provided with a thermometer, which should never be allowed to be lower than sixty degrees Fah., or higher than seventy-five—sixty-eight to seventy being the temperature desired.

A recess of fifteen minutes shall be given once during each session, or fully that length of time should be devoted to Physical Exercises, the windows being lowered.

In all the divisions particular attention should be given to the manner of sitting and standing, especially during recitations and reading exercises, and all teachers should earnestly persevere in their efforts to prevent the formation of bad habits in these respects, and in correcting those which are already formed.

NO. 15.

MORALS AND MANNERS.

Love to parents and others, gentleness, kindness, obedience, honesty, truthfulness, politeness, neatness, diligence, etc., are to be cultivated in children, not so much by direct exhortation and formal precept, as by such expedients as shall call these affections and qualities into active existence. Lead a child to do a kind act, and you will increase his kindness of heart; and this is the best of all lessons on kindness.

Anecdotes and familiar examples from personal experience, or from reading lessons, illustrating love of brothers and sisters, respect to age, kindness to animals, regard for authority, obedience, etc., are among the best means of cultivating these virtues. Teaching mainly by examples will accomplish more than any amount of mere formal moral instruction.

Teachers should improve every opportunity to inculcate lessons of civility and courtesy. In the lower grades, especially, they should give frequent and minute directions respecting the ordinary rules of politeness. The pupils should be taught that when a question is asked them, it shows a lack of good breeding to shake their head or to remain silent in their seats; even if they are not able to answer it, they should rise, and remain standing until it is passed to another. They should receive some general directions respecting the manners of young persons in the presence of those who are older. They should be taught that well-bred people do not laugh at mistakes, etc. Their manners in their intercourse with each other should receive the attention of the teacher.

The position of the pupil in his seat, his movements in passing to and from the class, his posture in class or at his seat when called upon to recite, should receive the teacher's most careful scrutiny. All listless and lounging habits in the school-room indicate a careless spirit, which should be checked. The teacher should insist upon a posture, at all times, that expresses the respect which a pupil should feel for himself and his classmates, as well as for his teacher.

BY-LAWS.

Officers.

The officers of this Board shall be a President, a Secretary, an Assistant Secretary, First Clerk, Second Clerk, Third Clerk, and a Messenger, to be elected annually at the organization of the Board.

II.

President.

He shall preside at all meetings of the Board ; determine questions of order without debate, subject to appeal to the Board ; name all Committees, except when otherwise ordered by the Board ; be ex-officio member of all Standing Committees ; sign all warrants and instruments under seal of the Board ; sign all orders and reports directed by the Board ; inspect the Minutes of the Secretary, and call Special Meetings of the Board when requested, in writing, by three members, or when such meeting shall, in his opinion, be necessary.

III.

Secretary.

He shall keep accurate Minutes of the proceedings of the Board in a book provided for that purpose, and shall, when requested, act as Secretary of all Standing Committees ; attest all warrants and instruments under seal of the Board ; preserve all books and papers placed under his care ; notify, in writing, the members of the Board of all meetings thereof, and the members of all Committees of their appointment. He shall furnish the Chairman with a copy of the resolution appointing each Committee, and notify, in writing, the members of all meetings thereof. In case of sickness or absence of the President, he shall, at the request of three members, call Special Meetings of the Board. He shall have the care and custody of all supplies which may be ordered by the Committee on Supplies, and delivered to the Board. It shall be his duty, from time to time, whenever supplies are needed, to report the fact to the Committee, and procure them on their order, from those persons having contracts under the authority of the Board. He shall also keep all accounts of the Board, and hold the same subject to the inspection of any member thereof.

IV.

Assistant Secretary and Clerks.

They shall perform such duties as may be assigned them by the Secretary.

Messenger.

He shall perform the duties belonging to the office of Messenger, and act as Janitor in the rooms of the Board; he shall aid the Secretary in the reception and distribution of supplies, and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned him by the Secretary.

VI.

Stated Meetings.

SECTION 1. The Stated Meetings of the Board shall be held on the second Tuesday of each month, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

Special Meetings.

SECTION 2. When Special Meetings are called, the nature of the business to be transacted shall be stated in the call and notices for said meeting, and no other business than that for which the meeting was called, shall be transacted at said meeting, except by unanimous consent.

Quorum.

SECTION 3. Five members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, pursuant to the following Act of Assembly, passed February 15, 1832.

A FURTHER SUPPLEMENT.

To an Act entitled "An Act to provide for education," etc.

SECTION 1. That five members of the Controllers of Public Schools for the City and County of Philadelphia, shall constitute a quorum for the making of orders for the payment of money, and the transaction of business generally, with this exception: that no order for the payment of money shall be made at any Special Meeting of the Board, unless a majority of the whole number be present.

VII.Order of Business.*

At the hour appointed the President (or in case of his absence a member of the Board chosen President pro tem.) shall take the chair, and direct the roll to be called. If any member shall afterwards appear, his name shall be noted. The business shall proceed, as follows, viz.:

- I. Admission of new members.*
- II. The reading of the minutes.
- III. The reading of communications.
- IV. Reports of standing committees.
- V. Reports of select committees.
- VI. Unfinished business.
- VII. New business.

VIII.Committees.*

The President shall appoint at the first stated meeting in January, of each year, Standing Committees, as follows: each

*Each member of the Board shall be sworn or affirmed, "that he will discharge his duties, as a member of the Board of Public Education of the First School District of Pennsylvania, with fidelity, to the best of his ability."

consisting of five members, except the following: Committee on Estimates, which shall consist of nine, on By-Laws and Rules and Night Schools, which shall each consist of seven, and the Committee on Library, which shall consist of three; one of each Committee respectively or the Secretary of the Board, shall act as Secretary of said Committees.

1. Accounts.
2. Supplies.
3. Text Books.
4. Property.
5. Central High School.
6. Girls' Normal School.
7. Grammar, Secondary, and Primary Schools.
8. Qualification of Teachers.
9. Reports of Schools.
10. Office and Expenses.
11. Revision of Studies.
12. Estimates.
13. Music.
14. By-Laws and Rules.
15. Library.
16. Night Schools.
17. Legislation.

IX.

Duties of the Committee on Accounts.

They shall examine and report all bills and accounts, when properly attested, from the Committees of this Board and of the Sectional Boards. No bill of any Sectional Board shall be sanctioned unless the same shall have been approved by the said Sectional Board, at a stated or special meeting thereof, and be in accordance with the rules of this Board.

X.

Duties of Committee on Supplies.

I. They shall annually, in the month of October, cause to be inserted, in five of the daily papers of this City, an advertisement asking proposals for furnishing all necessary books and stationery, by sample, for the ensuing year. And the said advertisement shall contain notice, that any article furnished this Board, not in accordance with the sample, as named below, will be rejected. One month prior to making such advertisement for proposals for the supply of pens, pen-holders, ink, ink-wells, and stands, slates (other than silicate), slate and soapstone pencils, lead pencils, rubbers, chalk, paper, and plain copy books, they shall select suitable samples of the said articles of stationery, which samples shall be exhibited, at the office of the Board, to intending bidders, and the advertisement herein directed to be made shall invite proposals for furnishing the said articles in accordance with such samples.

II. Said proposals for supplies shall be directed to, and opened by the President, in the presence of the Board, at the Stated Meeting in December, and the contracts therefor shall be awarded to the lowest bidders. Provided, however, That no contract shall be awarded to the publishers of the books or manufacturers of the stationery (excepting the manufacturers of such articles of stationery as are specified in the next preceding section,) for the supply of which proposals have been invited as aforesaid, unless such proposals be accompanied by the affidavit of the bidder, made before the Mayor of any City or a Judge of any Court of Record, to the fact that the price at which the books or stationery are proposed to be supplied is not greater than that charged buyers of like quantities on a credit of sixty days. And provided further, That this section shall not be construed to require the Board to reject a bid unaccompanied by an affidavit.

III. All persons sending proposals to furnish the schools of this District with supplies of any kind, at a given price, shall accompany the same with a bond, executed by at least two persons, in such amount as may be deemed sufficient by the Committee on Supplies of this Board, conditioned for the faithful performance of any contract which shall be awarded to them pursuant to said proposals, and said bond shall accompany and be filed with the contract so awarded.

IV. They shall, annually, in the month of May, cause to be inserted in five of the daily papers of this city, an advertisement asking proposals for the furnishing of the necessary fuel. And such advertisement shall contain the following condition, which shall be inserted in every contract for the delivery of the coal, viz.: "Each ton of said coal shall be weighed at the place of delivery, in the presence of a proper person to be deputed by each Sectional Board, as weigher (subject to the approval of the Committee on Supplies), who shall keep an accurate account of each load of coal delivered, its exact weight as ascertained by correct scales. And no bill shall be approved for such coal unless an affidavit of the weigher shall accompany such bill, setting forth by what contractor the coal was delivered, the date of delivery of each load, the number of tons, and the quality of coal delivered, and whether weighed at place of delivery." Printed forms of said affidavit to be furnished by the Committee on Supplies. The Committee on Supplies shall appoint a weigher in case of neglect of Sectional Board.

V. They shall, annually, in the month of October, cause to be inserted in five of the daily papers of this city an advertisement asking proposals for printing all matter needed by the Board (accompanied with samples of paper and printing) for the ensuing year. Said proposals shall be directed to and opened by the Chairman of Committee on Supplies, in the presence of the Board, at the Stated Meeting in December, and the contracts therefor shall be awarded to the lowest bidder.

VI. They shall hold monthly meetings, and preserve regular minutes of all their proceedings in a book kept for that purpose, and make a report, in writing, of the same, at every Stated Meeting of the Board.

VII. It shall be the duty of the Committee, at the commencement of each year, to apportion to each Section their proportion of the appropriation for books and stationery for the current year, the said apportionment to be based upon the number of pupils in the respective Sections. No Section shall be permitted to receive supplies beyond the amount so apportioned.

XI.

Duties of the Committee on Text-books.

I. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Text-books to consider applications, referred to them by the Board, to introduce any new text-book or publication, or any revised or amended edition of one already in use. The said Committee shall examine the same thoroughly, and shall make a written report to the Board, setting forth the reasons for or against the introduction of the same. Provided, In no case shall the Committee make a report upon any book or publication, unless each member of the Board shall have been furnished with a copy thereof (accompanied with a statement of the price at which the book will be supplied to the Board), for examination, at least two months previously to the time herein fixed for making said report.

II. The Board of Public Education shall in no case direct the introduction of any such book or publication until the next stated meeting after the presentation of the report thereon. No such book or publication shall be furnished for the use of the schools until at least one year after adoption.

III. The Committee shall not allow any book or other publication to be introduced into or used in any school of the district unless the same shall have been first approved by this Board; nor shall any new or revised edition of any book in use be introduced without the like approval.

IV. They shall, before recommending the introduction of any new book, or recommending a change in any book or series of books, determine whether such recommendation is in accordance with the Act of Assembly which forbids "any change to be made in the school books, or series of text books used in any school, more than once in every period of three years."

V. Not more than two text books on one study will be allowed in the schools at the same time. In all cases where the full number of text books are in use, one of such books shall be retired from the list before the introduction of another on the same subject.

VI. They shall also report to the Board books or other publications not proper to be retained.

XII.

Duties of the Committee on Property.

I. They shall have the supervision of the erection of all school-houses, and also of all repairs, improvements, and alterations exceeding the sum of $150.

II. They shall, before commencing operation upon any contract for the erection of a new school-house, or alterations or additions to those in the occupancy of the Board, require the contractor to give good and sufficient security for the faithful performance of his contract, to be approved by them: The Committee may waive security in cases where the contract does not exceed five hundred dollars.

III. When a new school is to be opened, or the location of a school changed, whereby an additional building is needed, the Committee on Property shall first approve of the rent required for the same.

IV. They shall, from time to time, inspect the real estate under control of the Board, and report the condition of the same; they shall have all buildings and other property insured in such amount as they may deem necessary.

V. They shall make reports of their proceedings at every Stated Meeting of the Board.

XIII.

Duties of the Committee on Central High School.

I. They shall visit the school semi-monthly, keep regular minutes of their proceedings, and report annually the state of the school. In case of any vacancy in the Faculty, they shall recommend to the Board a suitable person or persons to fill the same.

II. They shall recommend to the Board the conferring of the *degree of Bachelor of Arts upon all who shall meritoriously have completed the four years' course; and the degree of Master of Arts upon such graduates of not less than five year's standing as shall, by their general merit, be entitled to that distinction.

III. It shall be the duty of said Committee to report, semi-annually, to this Board, the number of pupils stricken from the list of scholars in attendance in the Central High School, the averages of the pupils so stricken from the roll, and the Grammar Schools from which they came.

XIV.

Duties of the Committee on Girls' Normal School.

I. They shall visit the school semi-monthly, keep regular minutes of their proceedings, report annually the state of the school, and in case of any vacancy in the Faculty, shall recommend a suitable person or persons to the Board to fill the same.

II. They shall have prepared a diploma, to be given to such of the pupils as shall, upon examination, be deemed worthy of the same.

III. It shall be the duty of the said Committee to report, semi-annually, to this Board, the number of pupils stricken from the list of scholars in attendance in the Girls' Normal School, the average of the pupils so stricken from the roll, and the Grammar Schools from which they came.

XV.

Duties of the Committee on Grammar, Secondary, and Primary Schools.

I. All applications for the establishment of new schools, or the removal of those already established, or for the formation of a new division, or for the change of grade of any school, shall be referred to this Committee, whose duty it shall be to report upon the same at the next Stated Meeting of the Board.

*Under Act of Assembly.

II. All applications for change in the salary of any teacher or housekeeper shall be referred to this Committee, who shall report upon the same at the next Stated Meeting of the Board.

XVI.

Duties of the Committee on Qualification of Teachers.

I. They shall hold annual examinations of such persons, excepting applicants for the position of music teachers, as may apply, under the regulations of this Board, to obtain certificates of qualification to teach in the public schools of the First School District of Pennsylvania; and said examinations shall be held on the second Wednesday and following Thursday and Friday of April.

Special examinations for teachers shall be held whenever, in the judgment of the Committee, it may be deemed necessary.

II. The Committee may require the assistance of such Principals of Grammar Schools for Boys, or of the Faculty of the Central High School (but no others), as they may deem necessary to conduct such examinations; they shall present a printed report to this Board, at the next stated meeting, of the result of such examinations, said report to give the names of the successful applicants, the schools from which they came, and the result of each applicant's examination in each study, as well as his or her general average and position on the list.

The Committee shall cause such rules to be made as shall secure, at all times, the utmost fairness and impartiality in the examinations.

III. The Committee shall award two grades of certificates, denominated respectively Principal's Certificate and Assistant's Certificate, to such persons as may, upon examination, be found qualified to receive the same.

IV. All applicants shall be examined on one set of questions, which shall be such as may be answered from the text-books in use in the High, Normal, or Grammar Schools of this city.

V. A Principal's Certificate shall be awarded to such persons, not less than 20 years of age, as shall, upon examination, obtain a general average scholarship of not less than 75 in the following subjects :

READING,
SPELLING,
DEFINITIONS AND ETYMOLOGY,
GRAMMAR AND PARSING,
COMPOSITION,
PENMANSHIP,
GEOGRAPHY,
GENERAL HISTORY AND CONSTITUTION, U. S.,
ARITHMETIC,
ALGEBRA, MENSURATION.

VI. An Assistant's Certificate shall be awarded to such persons, not less than 17 years of age, as shall, upon examination, obtain a general average of not less than 60 in the subjects above named.

VII. In marking results, 100 shall be regarded as the maximum value of each subject, and no certificate shall issue unless the party examined shall have attained an average scholarship of at least 60 in each of the following branches ; namely, Spelling, Definitions, and Arithmetic.

VIII. No applicant shall be examined who shall not have attained the age of 17 years.

No pupil of the public schools shall be examined who shall not have been a pupil of the Normal or of the Central High School, or of the Senior Class of a Grammar School, for at least two years.

IX. No pupil of the Normal or of the Central High School; or of the Senior Class of a Grammar School, shall be examined, unless the name of said pupil appears upon a list of "applicants for examination," certified by the Principal of the school from which said pupil has been sent, and deposited with the Secretary of this Board, at least three days prior to the examination. Applicants who are not pupils of the public schools shall also be required to register their names with the Secretary of this Board three days prior to the examination.

X. The holder of a Principal's Certificate shall be immediately eligible to any position in the public schools of this District, excepting that of Principal; and, after one year's experience in teaching in the public schools shall be eligible to the principalship of a Primary School; after two years' experience, to the principalship of a Secondary School; and, after three years' experience, the principalship of a Grammar School.

XI. The holder of an assistant's certificate shall be immediately eligible to an assistantship in any of the public schools; and after three years' experience in teaching in the public schools to the principalship of a Secondary or Primary School.

XII. The holder of a first grade certificate, issued by authority of this Board, prior to the adoption of these By-Laws, shall be entitled to exchange such certificate for a principal's certificate, with such privileges and rights as are conferred thereby.

XIII. The holder of a second grade certificate, issued prior to the adoption of these By-Laws, shall be entitled to exchange such certificate for an assistant's certificate, with such privileges and rights as are conferred thereby.

XIV. The holder of a third or fourth grade certificate, issued prior to the adoption of these By-Laws, shall be eligible to any position in a Primary or Secondary School, excepting that of Principal; and, after three years' experience in teaching in the public schools, to the principalship of a Primary or Secondary School, or any assistantship in a Grammar School.

XV. Principals of Grammar Schools who were regularly examined prior to 1865, and who are now teaching, shall be entitled to a Principal's certificate.

XVI. Candidates who shall obtain averages entitling them to a Principal's certificate, but who shall not be of the required age, shall, upon attaining the age of twenty years, be entitled to a Principal's certificate.

XVII. No person shall be elected to the position of teacher in any of the public schools of this District, who shall not have received a certificate of qualification duly issued by the authority of this Board, after his or her examination; Provided, That this rule shall not apply to teachers who were duly elected prior to the passage of the Act of Assembly relative to the examination of teachers in the First School District, February 17, 1865, and who were at that time teachers in the public schools; but such teachers may be promoted from time to time without being required to pass an examination.

XVIII. No person elected by a Sectional Board to a position as teacher in any of the public schools of this District, shall be entitled to recognition as such, or be entitled to any of the rights, privileges, or emoluments of such position, until said election be reported and approved by this Board.

XIX. No person of bad character or of intemperate or other immoral habits shall be elected a teacher in any of the public schools.

XX. No person incapable or disqualified for the duties of teacher from ill health, extreme age, or other cause, shall be eligible to the position of teacher.

XXI. All charges of violation of any of the preceding rules shall be made in writing, and shall be referred to the Committee on Grammar, Secondary, and Primary Schools, who shall investigate and report the facts at the next meeting of this Board.

Provisions governing the examinations of pupils of the Central High School and the Girls' Normal School, who are members of the graduating classes in said schools.

The examinations held at the Central High School and the Girls' Normal School, respectively, at the close of the term which completes the full course of study in said schools, shall also be examinations of the qualifications of the members of the graduating classes in said schools to become teachers in the public schools of this district.

Said examinations shall be conducted by the respective faculties of said schools, under the supervision of the Committee on Qualification of Teachers, at such times and in such manner as may be prescribed by the respective committees on said schools.

The pupils attending said respective examinations shall be examined upon the studies taught in said schools respectively, during the term which completes the full course of instruction in said respective schools.

A principal's certificate shall be awarded by the Committee on Qualification of Teachers, to each pupil of either of said schools who shall, at the examination aforesaid, obtain a general average scholarship of 85 or upwards.

Such pupils of the Girls' Normal School, only, as shall obtain at said examination, a general average scholarship of 70, or upwards (and less than 85), shall be entitled to receive assistant's certificates. Provided, however, that no pupil of either of said schools shall receive a certificate of qualification, as aforesaid, in case said pupil shall fail to obtain the GENERAL TERM AVERAGE entitling him or her to graduate.

XVII.

Duties of the Committee on Reports of Schools.

They shall carefully examine all reports of Schools and present an abstract therefrom to the Board; they shall report all schools in which there are more teachers than the quarterly average attendance of the pupils will warrant (as required by Rule XXIV. of the Board), and shall visit the schools as they may deem expedient for required information. In computing such average attendance, the month of June shall be excluded.

XVIII.

Duties of the Committee on Office and Expenses.

This Committee shall have the general supervision of the office and rooms of the Board, and of the office employes; determine what books shall be opened; prescribe the manner in which the records of the office shall be kept; report the amount and kind of clerical and other working force that may be required from time to time; and regulate and assign the clerical duties of the office. They shall purchase all articles necessary for the use of the Board (not otherwise provided for.) All bills for such expenses shall be approved by them before they shall be allowed by the Committee on Accounts.

XIX.

Duties of the Committee on Revision of Studies.

They shall observe the operation of the "Course of Instruction," as fixed by the Board on the twenty-first day of March, 1871, and shall report, from time to time, what change, if any, the same may require.

XX.

Duties of the Committee on Estimates.

They shall visit, as far as practicable, annually, each of the school-buildings occupied by authority of this Board, and ascertain if any repairs, additions, or improvements are necessary for the well-being of the schools.

They shall also examine the outside surroundings of all the school-rooms occupied as above, and determine what is required relative thereto, for the convenience, health, and comfort of the pupils, and for the preservation of the property of the city.

They shall prepare and report to this Board, at the Stated Meeting in October, a detailed statement, classified in "School Sections," showing the requirements of the Sectional Boards with the estimated cost thereof.

They shall also report the amount required by the "Committee on Supplies," (as reported by them,) and estimate the sum needed for the expenses of the several Committees, (as reported by them), showing the entire requirements of the "First School District," prepared in form to be submitted to the City Councils (in accordance with the "Act of Assembly,") as the estimated expense for school purposes for the coming year.

They shall cause a "Record" to be kept in a book prepared for the purpose, and called "Record of Committee on Estimates," stating the precise wants of the respective sections for all purposes, and when increased above the estimate of the previous year, the increase of each item shall be plainly stated, so that the full particulars can be submitted to this Board and to the Councils of the city, when desired. They shall meet at least monthly, and report their proceedings at each Stated Meeting of the Board.

For properly securing the object desired in the appointment of this Committee, the Secretary of this Board shall notify each Sectional Board, at least thirty days prior to the Stated Meeting of this Board in September, to report to the Board at said meeting, a detailed statement of all special items of repair needed in the respective sections for the coming year, with the probable amount needed therefore attached to each item.

They shall have power to require the attendance and services of any of the employes of this Board, so far as may seem to them proper, in performance of the duties to which they have been appointed.

XXI.

Duties of the Committee on Music.

The Committee on Music shall have charge of all matter pertaining to that study in the Public Schools. Instruction in music, in addition to that given by the regular teachers, as provided in the "Graded Course," shall be given by a superintendent, who shall be the principal Music Teacher for the District, and by as many special music teachers as the committee may deem necessary, but not more than one for each section. The salary of the Superintendent shall be the same as that of a Principal of a Boys' Grammar School, and those of the special music teachers shall be fixed by the committee, subject to the approval of the Board.

The Committee shall nominate to the Board the person to fill the office of Superintendent (when a vacancy occurs), who, after confirmation by the Board, shall hold said office until removed by the same. The Committee, whenever they may deem necessary, shall hold examinations of applicants for positions as music teachers; such examinations to be conducted in such manner as the Committee may prescribe; and no person elected by a Sectional Board as music teacher, shall be confirmed as such by this Board, unless he or she shall have received a certificate of qualification at such examination, or shall hold a certificate of qualification issued prior to the adoption of this By-Law.

The Committee shall require the Superintendent to visit and examine orally (not for promotion), each Grammar School at least once in six months, and the lower schools as often as possible. They shall, also, require each music teacher to give instruction for at least one hour per week in each Grammar and Secondary School, and for at least one-half every other week in each Primary School under his or her charge. Such instruction shall comprise in the Grammar Schools the theory of music, and the practice of exercises and songs, and in the lower schools, the practice of exercises and songs only. No exercises or songs shall be practiced other than those approved by the Superintendent or the committees of the respective schools; and each school shall be at all times, as to discipline, under the charge of its Principal. At the semi-annual examinations for promotion, music shall be one of the subjects of examination in each school.

The Committee shall require from the Superintendent on the first of December, March, and June of each year, a report on the progress and condition of the study of music in the schools, which reports shall be at all times open to the inspection of members of the Board. The Committee shall prepare and present at the stated meeting in December an annual report, also, for publication.

The Committee shall require the Music Teachers, and invite the regular teachers to meet the Superintendent, at least once a month, at such times and places as the Committee may prescribe, for instruction in music and in teaching the same.

Music or Committees on said Grammar Schools. The discipline of each school shall at all times be under the charge of its Principal.

Resolved, That the Principals and Assistants of Grammar Schools be requested to meet the Superintendent of Music for instruction in the theory of music, at the school-building, corner Twelfth and Locust Streets, at 4½ o'clock, on the first and third Wednesdays of each month; and should this arrangement prove, in practice, inconvenient to said teachers, it may be modified by the Committee on Music.

Resolved, That the Superintendent of Music be required to make a monthly statement to the Committee on Music respecting the progress made in this branch of study, the attention of music teachers to their duties, complaints against music teachers, and the failure of regular teachers to comply with the requirements of the graded course of instruction on this subject; and that the Superintendent shall examine the pupils of each Grammar School, upon this subject, once every six months.

Resolved, That the Principals of Grammar Schools be requested to report to the Superintendent of Music any neglect on the part of the music teacher.

Resolved, That the music teachers shall devote one hour per week to theoretical and practical instruction in each Secondary School, and one-half hour every other week to similar instruction in each Primary School.

Resolved, That the theory of music shall be a subject of examination, at the semi-annual examinations for promotion, in each grade of school.

Resolved, That the Committee on Supplies be directed to place music paper and pointers on the list of supplies.

XXII.

Duties of the Committee on By-Laws and Rules.

All proposed changes in the By-Laws and Rules of this Board shall be referred to the Committee on By-Laws and Rules. But no amendments to said By-Laws or Rules, or alterations of them, shall originate with the Committee.

Unless otherwise instructed, said Committee shall report to the Board, at the regular Stated Meeting immediately succeeding that at which the proposed changes or amendments shall have been referred to them.

XXIII.

Duties of Committee on Library.

They shall have charge of all the books and works of reference belonging to the Library. The said Committee shall have power to make such rules as they see fit, with regard to the loaning of books.

XXIV.

Committees shall report at the next Stated Meeting, upon all matters referred to them by the Board, except wherein otherwise ordered. And, hereafter, in all reference of matter to the respective standing Committees, it shall be with power to act, unless otherwise provided.

XXV.

The Minute Books of the several Committees of the Board shall be deposited at the office of the Board, subject to the inspection of the members of the Board.

XXVI.

Approval of Bills by Committee.

Every Committee which may have the approval of any bill or account, shall have a separate stamp, whereon shall be cut the style of the Committee. No bill shall be considered as approved by any Committee, unless the same shall be stamped by the Chairman, or, in his absence, by the Chairman pro tem., at a meeting of the Committee, and the name of such chairman then and there written over the same. The Chairman of the Committee on Account may stamp his name on bills approved by said Committee.

XXVII.

Hereafter, none of the Public School Buildings of this District shall be named after living persons.

XXVIII.

Amendments.

No amendment shall be made to these By-Laws unless proposed at a Stated Meeting and laid over for one month before being considered. Provided, nevertheless, That any By-Law may be suspended by the concurring vote of two-thirds of the entire Board at any Stated Meeting.

XXIX.

Matthias' Manual is adopted for the government of the Board.

RULES.

---

I.

The Office of the Board shall be kept open from the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. to 3 o'clock P. M.

II.

All communication to this Board for alterations, additions, or repairs to school-houses, or for changing the grade of a school, or for permission to increase the number of teachers in any school, or for an increase in the salaries of teachers or housekeepers, shall be referred to the appropriate Committee by the Chair unless otherwise ordered.

III.

All contracts for building school-houses, for repairs, alterations, or improvements of the same, and for the purchase of any lot or lots, shall be deposited with the Secretary of the Board.

IV.

Sectional Boards shall not make any contract beyond the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars without first obtaining permission from this Board.

V.

All bills from the several Sections must be presented at the Office of the Board at least one week prior to the Stated Meetings of the Board, otherwise they shall lie over for one month.

VI.

No Sectional Board shall have power to purchase any books or stationery now furnished by this Board.

VII.

No bills shall be paid by this Board for the services of any substitute employed in case of sickness or absence of any teacher.

VIII.

All bills for the salaries of teachers and janitors shall be passed by the Sectional Boards at their meetings in February, May, August, and November.

Janitors receiving a salary of $400, or upwards, shall be required to be in attendance during the school session, and no janitor shall receive compensation for more than one building. They shall be required to have the school-house opened at least fifteen minutes before the time fixed for opening the schools, and pupils shall be allowed to enter the school on their arrival at the building.

IX.

The Directors of the Sectional Boards shall require the principal teachers in their respective Sections to keep registers of the age, name, and date of admission and place of birth of each pupil, and the name, residence, and occupation of his or her parent or guardian, as well as a record, in which they shall accurately note the exact time when the several teachers shall arrive at the schools in the morning and the afternoon.

X.

The Sectional Boards shall require from the principal teachers, in accordance with the prescribed form, monthly reports, which shall be approved by a Visiting Director. They shall, also, require from said principal teachers, to be approved by a Visiting Director, quarterly reports, stating to what extent the Course of Studies, as prescribed in the printed "Course of Instruction," adopted by this Board on the 21st of March, A. D. 1871, together with the rules connected therewith, are adhered to.

XI.

The principals of the schools of this district, shall keep a daily record of the number of pupils actually present and the number absent on account of sickness, and in computing the average attendance for the day, the sick shall be computed as in attendance.

The principal teacher in each school shall send to the Secretary of the Sectional Board, to be forwarded by him to the Secretary of this Board at least one week previous to the first day of January, April, July, and October, a quarterly report, approved by one of the Visiting Directors; and an annual report at least one week previous to the first of January, also approved by a Visiting Director. The Secretary shall not deliver the warrants for the said principal teachers' salaries, until the quarterly and annual reports are deposited with him.

XII.

All supplies of books and stationery shall be obtained by a requisition upon the Secretary of this Board, signed by the Principal of the school, and attested by one of the Visiting Committee.

No book shall be used in the Public Schools as a text-book, unless duly authorized by this Board.

Any teacher who shall permit any book not on the list of supplies, to be used as a text-book in his or her school, shall, upon proof of the offence being made be stricken from the pay list of the Board.

No pupil shall be requested or required to purchase any book, except to replace a lost or damaged book.

No teacher shall be permitted to sell to the pupils any supplies received from this Board.

Any teacher who shall traffic in, exchange, or sell any of the supplies furnished to the schools, or shall in any other way, violate the rules of this Board, shall, upon the proof of such charge, be stricken from the pay list of the Board.

All books shall be stamped or stenciled, in several places, as follows, before supplying them to the schools: "The property of the Board of Public Education of the First School District of Pennsylvania."

XIII.

When the average required for the appointment of an additional teacher has been attained in any school, the Sectional Board having charge of such school may appoint such additional teacher, subject to confirmation or rejection by this Board at its next Stated Meeting. Provided, That no division shall be formed or teacher confirmed without the approval of the Committee on Grammar, Secondary, and Primary Schools, who shall visit the schools and ascertain that the average attendance and number in waiting justify the same.

XIV.

All bills for the salaries of teachers must be presented in the names of such teachers.

XV.

In all cases where the salary of the teacher does not exceed four hundred dollars, females shall be employed.

XVI.

Sectional Boards shall be required to forward all bills passed by them, and a schedule thereof; said bills to be properly endorsed, specifying the number of the Section, the name of the individual in whose favor drawn, and for what account and the amount. All bills must be approved by at least two members of the Committee on Accounts of the Sectional Boards.

XVII.

No pupil of one school shall be admitted into another without a transfer or written permission, signed by the Visiting Committee of the school from which said transfer is made, and approved by the Committee of the school to which the same is presented. Nevertheless, a pupil in good standing in any of the schools of this District shall in no case be refused a transfer to a school of the same grade nearer his or her residence; and it shall be the duty of the Committee on Grammar, Secondary, and Primary Schools, to stop the supply of any school whose Committee shall violate the above rule.

XVIII.

No pupil shall be received into any of the schools of this District who is not bona fide domiciled therein. In case of the removal of a pupil from the District, he or she shall no longer be received into any of said schools. Provided, This rule shall not apply to schools expressly excepted by the Act of Assembly.

XIX.

Morning and afternoon sessions shall be held in all the schools of the First District; the morning session to commence at 9 A. M. and close at 12 M., and the afternoon session to commence at 2 P. M. and close at 4 P. M., except from the first of June to the commencement of the summer vacation, and from the first to the fifteenth of September, there shall be one session only, from 9 A. M. to 12 M., with thirty minutes intermission. One hour and a half of said session shall be devoted to recitations, and one hour and a half to the preparation of the lessons for the succeeding day. When it shall be found necessary by the Visiting Directors, by reason of bad weather, to hold one session, the same shall be of five hours' duration, including a recess of twenty minutes. In every case of violation of this rule, the further supplies of the school violating the same shall be stopped by the committee on Grammar, Secondary, and Primary Schools; and report shall be made thereof to this Board, at its next Stated Meeting, by said Committee.

SEC. 2. At the opening of each session of the schools, at least ten verses of the Bible, without note or comment, shall be read to the pupils by the Principal, or, in his or her absence, by one of the assistants. A suitable hymn may also be sung.

XX.

In making the average attendance for the monthly and quarterly reports, the number absent from sickness shall be computed with the number actually present.

XXI.

Pupils who shall have honorably completed the course of studies prescribed for the "Senior Class," to the satisfaction of the Principal and Visiting Committee, shall receive a suitable diploma at graduation.

XXII.

The morning session of the Primary, Secondary, and Grammar Schools shall be devoted to recitations by the pupils, and explanations and instructions by the teachers. The afternoon sessions shall be given entirely to the preparation of lessons by the pupils under the care and supervision of the Principal and Assistant Teachers.

Home study may be optional with pupils, but shall not, in any case, be required by teachers. When text books are taken home by pupils, it shall be those only each day in which recitations have been prepared in the afternoon for the ensuing day; and no addition shall be made to the lesson assigned on account of the books being taken home. The true principle in education is, "Not how much, but how well." Short lessons are, therefore, enjoined in all cases, and teachers prohibited from using the text-books in recitations, except in Orthography, Etymology, and Reading.

XXIII.

Promotions from the Primary to the Secondary, and from the Secondary into the Grammar Schools shall be made semi-annually. The Principals of the Grammar Schools shall prescribe and regulate the manner of all such promotions, but all promotions must be restricted to those pupils who attain the highest average scholarship, as shown by the average of the daily marking during the previous term, combined with the average marks that may be obtained at such semi-annual examinations; the pupils of the Primary Schools, as regards their promotion to Secondary Schools, to be exempt from the application of so much of the provision of this Rule as refers to the term average. Promotions from the Primary Schools to the Secondary Schools, being made on the averages obtained on the written examinations only. Promotions, however, from one division of any school to a higher division of the same school may be made whenever, in the judgment of the Principal, the progress of the pupil may require; but all promotions from one grade of schools to another must be made conformably to the above.

All examinations, so far as practicable, shall be in writing, and shall occur, semi-annually, during the last two weeks of the months of June and January, respectively.

XXIV.

The "Graded Course of Instruction," and the rules accompanying the same, shall form a part of the rules of the Board, and shall not, in any respect be changed, unless such change shall be proposed at one Stated Meeting of the Board, to be acted upon at the next, and shall receive the approval of two-thirds of the whole Board.

The studies of the Grammar, Secondary and Primary Schools shall be pursued in the order laid down in the "Graded Course of instruction," and no omission therein or addition thereto shall be permitted.

The period of six months shall be devoted to the instruction of each division in the studies allotted to it. Any Grammar School in which shall be introduced studies not authorized by this Board, shall be reduced to the grade of a Consolidated School.

XXV.

In all Grammar Schools requiring the services of three or more assistant teachers, the class taught by the Principal shall be designated and known as the "Senior Class," and shall pursue, under the special instruction of the Principal, the Supplementary Course of Studies prescribed in the "Graded Course of Instruction," approved by this Board. The remaining classes shall be designated and known as the First, Second, Third, Fourth, &c., divisions, respectively, and shall be in charge of the respective Assistant Teachers, under the supervision and direction of the Principal.

XXVI.

The average attendance of pupils of the Senior Class, of a Grammar School of four or more divisions, shall not be less than thirty (30); and each division of the Grammar and Secondary Schools shall contain at least an average attendance of forty pupils to each teacher.

The average attendance in the Primary Schools shall not be less than forty to each teacher, except in the lowest division, which shall not exceed 50.

XXVII.

Pupils who shall have completed the course of studies of the first division of a Grammar School shall be promoted into the Senior Class of the Grammar School.

Admissions or promotions shall be made from the Senior Class only into the Boy's Central High School or the Girls' Normal School, respectively, upon presentation of a certificate of examination signed by the Principal and Visiting Directors of the School, and countersigned by the member of this Board who represents the section in which the said Grammar School is located, certifying that said applicant has passed a thorough written examination, satisfactory to the party whose duty it shall be to sign said certificate, which certificate must also state the average attained by said applicant in each study, as well as his or her general average scholarship; and that said applicant for admission has completed the full term in the lower divisions, and has for sixth months immediately preceding said application been a pupil in good standing in the Senior Class, taught by the Principal of the school.

A record of every such examination must be kept, with the questions and answers annexed, and the names of the pupils promoted; and all promotions must be restricted to pupils attaining the highest averages.

In admitting pupils to the Boys' Central High and the Girls' Normal School, no pupil shall be admitted who has not been attending school in the section from which said pupil shall be sent at least one school term previous to the time of the admission of said pupil.

XXVIII.

The pupils sent from the Grammar and Consolidated Schools for admission into the Central High School and the Girls' Normal School, in accordance with the requirements of the Rules of the Board, shall, prior to their admission to either of said schools, be examined in arithmetic, spelling, definitions, reading, penmanship, principles of grammar, parsing, composition, geography (excepting physical geography), and history of the United States.

Said examinations shall be conducted, respectively, by a Committee of Principals of Boys' Grammar Schools, and a Committee of Principals of Girls' Grammar Schools; who shall be selected, by lot, by the respective Committees on the High School and Normal School.

The questions in said examinations shall be such as can be answered from the text books authorized to be used in the Senior classes of Grammar Schools; except that, in the examinations on Geography and History of the United States, the questions shall be such as can be answered from the text books used in the first divisions of Grammar Schools.

No pupil, who shall attend either of said examinations, shall be admitted into the Central High School, or the Girls' Normal School, unless said pupil shall have obtained, at said examination, a general average of 60 or upwards.

Each school section may send up to the said examinations, double the number of pupils, who, if properly qualified, would form the quota which such section may be entitled to promote to the Central High School or Girls' Normal School; and such of said pupils as shall make the highest general averages (not less than 60) shall be selected to form the quota of the section.

Such of the remaining applicants for admission to either of said schools, as shall have made the highest general averages (not less than 60) shall be selected to fill any deficiency, in the required supply of pupils for either of said schools, which may be caused by the failure of any section to secure its quota of pupils at said examinations.

XXIX.

The Principals of the Boys' Central High School and the Girls' Normal School, respectively, shall make semi-annual requisitions upon the several Grammar Schools for the necessary supply of pupils. The Principal of each Grammar School for Boys shall be required to promote to the Central High School in the proportion of at least one pupil to each division. In promotions to the Girls Normal School there shall be admitted three pupils from each Grammar School, and the same number from each section having no Grammar School: Provided, The Committee shall have discretionary power to admit from Consolidated Schools. And if, from any cause whatever, the number of pupils required for the Boys' Central High or the Girls' Normal School shall not be supplied, then the respective Committees on those schools shall be authorized to make additional requisition in the proportions above stated. Provided, That in the above computation the Senior Class shall be counted as a division.

All schools now authorized by any act of Assembly to send pupils to the Boys' Central High School, or the Girls' Normal School, shall each be entitled, on the occasion of the semi-annual examinations, to send one pupil who shall have received a certificate signed by the Visiting Directors and Principal of said school in compliance with Rule XXVI.

In admissions into the Boys' High School, Consolidated Schools shall be entitled to the proportion of one pupil to each Grammar division.

In admission into the Normal School, Consolidated Schools of six (6) or more full divisions shall be entitled to the admission of two (2) pupils, and of four (4) full divisions, to the admission of one (1) pupil. No pupil shall be admitted into the Girls' Normal School who is not of the required age on the day of the opening of the school at each semi-annual session.

The lower two divisions of such of the Grammar Schools as may contain five or more divisions, exclusive of the Senior Class, shall receive, in equal numbers, the most proficient pupils of the secondary department, and the course of study in said lower two divisions shall be identical, and promotion shall be made from both into the next higher division of the school.

XXX.

The commencements of the Boys' High School shall be held on the Thursday after the second Tuesday in February, and on the last Wednesday in June.

The commencements of the Girls' Normal School shall be held on the Thursday after the fourth Monday in January, and on the Thursday after the third Monday in June.

XXXI.

The studies pursued in the Consolidated Schools may embrace all grades taught in the Grammar, Secondary, and Primary Schools, inclusive, and such supplies shall be furnished as the attainments of the pupils may require.

XXXII.

The summer vacation of the schools shall consist of the months of July and August. The schools shall be closed from the 24th of December till the 2d of January ; on Washington's Birth-day ; on Good Friday and Easter Monday ; on the 4th of July, and on National and State Thanksgiving and Fast Days.

The Committee on Accounts shall deduct from the salaries of the teachers of such schools as close before the time of vacation above specified, a proportionate amount of their respective salaries. The Committee on Office and Expenses is vested with authority to direct the Public Schools of this District to be closed on occasions which, in the opinion of the Committee, shall render such closing advisable.

XXXIII.

Hereafter all schools in this District shall be recognized on the books of this Board by numerals only, and Sectional Boards shall be required, in all reports relating to said schools, to adopt a system of numbers by which their schools shall be registered in future.

XXXIV.

No child shall be admitted or continued as a pupil in any school in the First School District who has not been vaccinated, and it shall be the duty of the Principals to report, quarterly, to the Sectional Boards the number of non-vaccinated children applying for admission as pupils to their schools, and the names of the pupils, if any, who have not been vaccinated ; and these reports, or copies of the same, shall be transmitted to the Board of Public Education by the Sectional Boards, and in any instance where a Principal shall fail to comply with this resolution, the salary of said Principal shall be withheld until the resolution shall be complied with.

XXXV.

It shall be the duty of every teacher hereafter elected, transferred, or promoted, by any Sectional Board, before entering upon the duties of the position to which he or she may have been elected, transferred, or promoted, to register his or her name in the office of this Board, with the date of certificate of qualification, position last held, and also that to which elected, promoted, or transferred.

XXXVI.

No agent or other person interested in the sale of books or other supplies shall be permitted to visit teachers at the schools for the purpose of interesting them in the sale of these articles ; all teachers are requested to report to this Board the names of those who hereafter violate this rule.

XXXVII.

None of the Public School-buildings of this District shall be used for any other than Public School purposes.

XXXVIII.

The rules and regulations of this Board shall be kept prominently posted in each school of this District.

XXXIX.

These rules shall not be suspended, unless by a vote of two-thirds of the whole Board, nor shall they be changed, unless said change be proposed at one Stated Meeting of the Board, to be acted upon at the next, and shall receive the approval of two-thirds of the whole Board.

The salaries of the Principal and Assistant Teachers in the Consolidated Schools for Boys, or Boys and Girls, shall be as follows, viz. :
